Speaking of Washington

with the accent on EDUCATION

CONTENTS

Activities . . . 32
Sports 46
Personalities . . 68

Within these pages will be revealed every facet of education at Washington. While the students become conscious of their abilities and potentials, the opportunity to broaden their interests in all related fields of study is given.

FAMOUS CELEBRITIES? Not exactly! It's Mr. Julian, principal, and Donna Baldwin, Homecoming Queen Candidate.

THERE THEY GO! Coaches Springer and Oliver look on as the Mighty Continentals participate in another jamboree.

Our New Year

TIME FOR CAMPAIGNING! Carol Boone points out one of the many posters made to promote yearbook sales.

ONE THEME FOLDER PLEASE! This is a request often repeated to bookstore assistants, Gilda Eller, Dennis White, and Linda Hazelwood.

WE'VE GOT SPIRIT! Scenes like this, showing spirit of our school, can be seen in the halls before an important athletic event.

AN APPLE FOR THE TEACHER! Parents talk to Mrs. Mildred Edwards about school activities during the National Education Week Open House.

begins with enthusiasm and vigor...

COME RAIN, COME SHINE! Loyal Continentals show that neither rain nor weather dampen their spirit when a game has to be won.

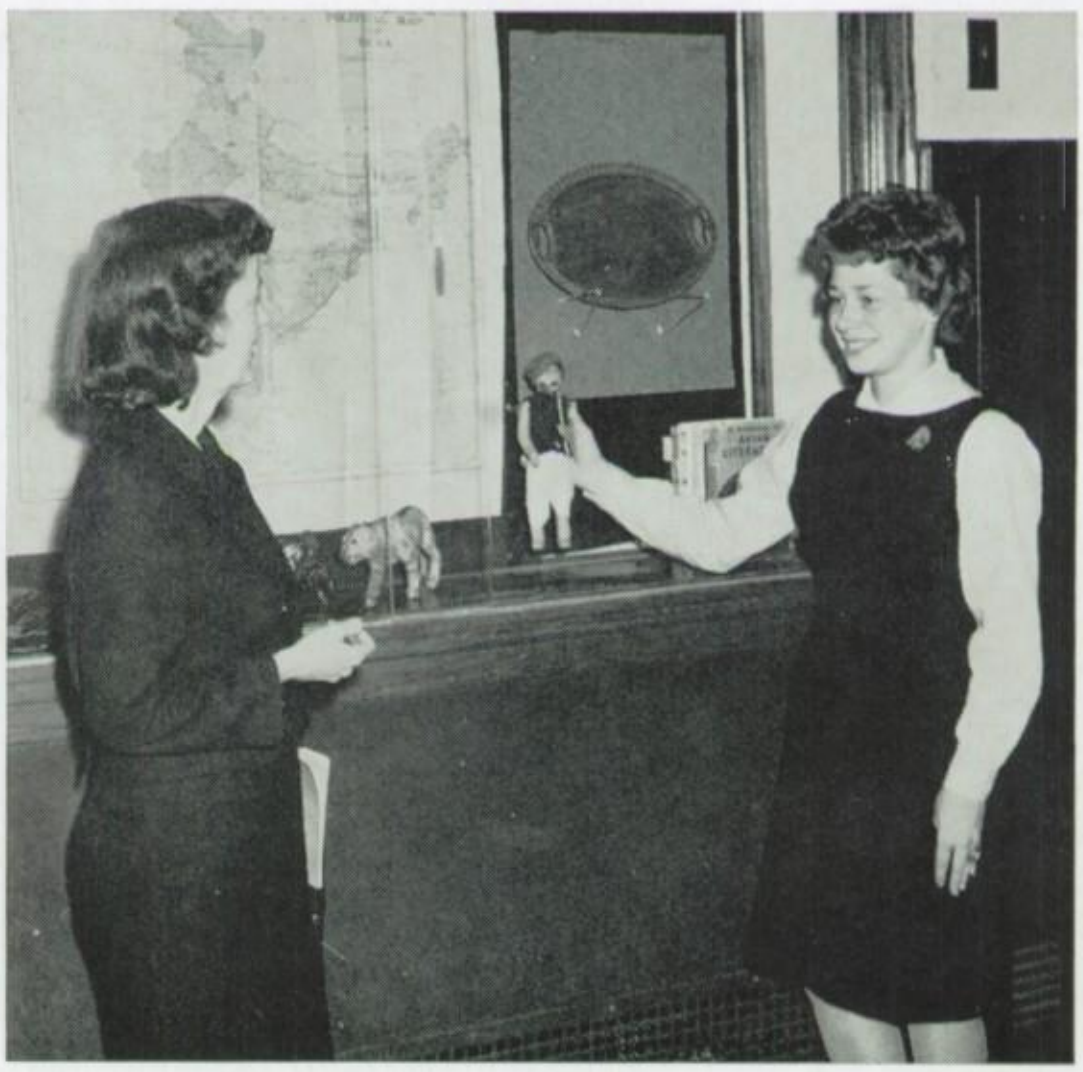
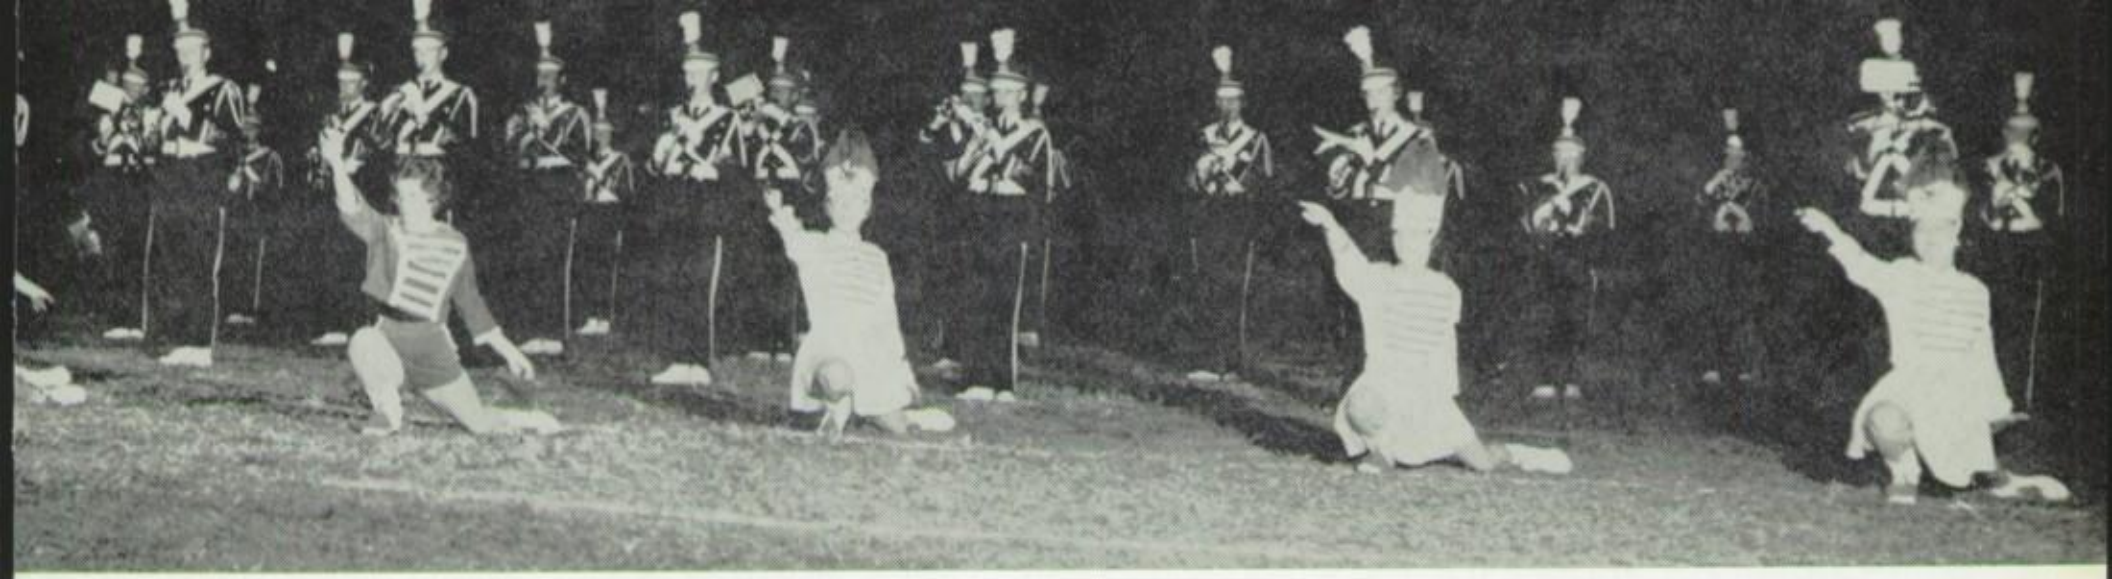
Activities

INFORMATION PLEASE! Senior Sandy Gray cheerfully shows the way to a wondering freshman.



WHAT'S THAT FOR? Suzanne St. John explains to Mrs. Betty Werthman the relationship each of the figures have to the people of India. The display was prepared by Miss Elva Deer.



AT-TEN-TION! ! ! Robert Bremer, drum major, and majorettes, Sandy Jackson, Janet Young, Clancie Opp, LaRae Gleason, Sue Groff, Lizabeth Henderson, Sandy Phillips, and Maryann Alexander, along with the band, salute the flag.

of students vary according to schedules

BE MY GUEST!!! Each year the student leaders of the school are honored by an invitational luncheon.

HURRY HURRY! ! ! Terri Rowe is one of the many ushers who delivers call slips to the students.

BEAT THOSE IRISH! Continentals form a human chain to boost team morale on a rainy Friday night for the all-important Cathedral football game about to be played on our field.

BRAND X? Mickey Eller demonstrates his salesmanship as he tries to promote his Junior Achievement product to a group of interested girls.

CLEAN-UP, FIX-UP, ...! Doing their part in making the annual clean-up campaign a success again, are Jim Arvin and Suzanne St. John.

AN APPLE FOR THE TEACHER! Steve Kaylor, a second grade pupil gives the traditional "apple" to cadet teacher Diane Yovanavich.

Business and pleasure mix well. . .

HONEST, YOU'LL GET IT BACK! Margaret Knight checks Charlene Zeronik's coat at one of the basketball games at Washington.

Adverse conditions

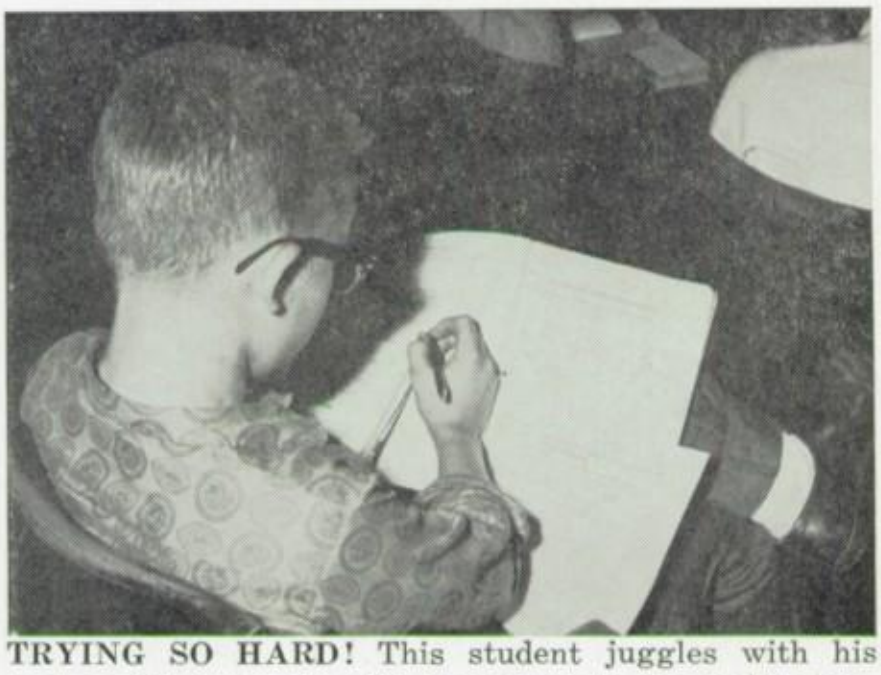
SMITH, JOHN W.? ? Taking the attendance is only one of the problems Mr. John Bradley has in his section of the crowded Junior Roll Call.

THE SARDINE HOUSE? No, it's the condition of the jam-packed halls in between classes at Washington.

50 YARD DASH, ANYONE? Some Continentals, like this freshman, must resort to such measures in order to get to their classes on time.

fail to disturb student relationships

HOMEWORK FOR TEACHER'S? Not quite, Miss Rose King shows the inconvenience of shifting classes.

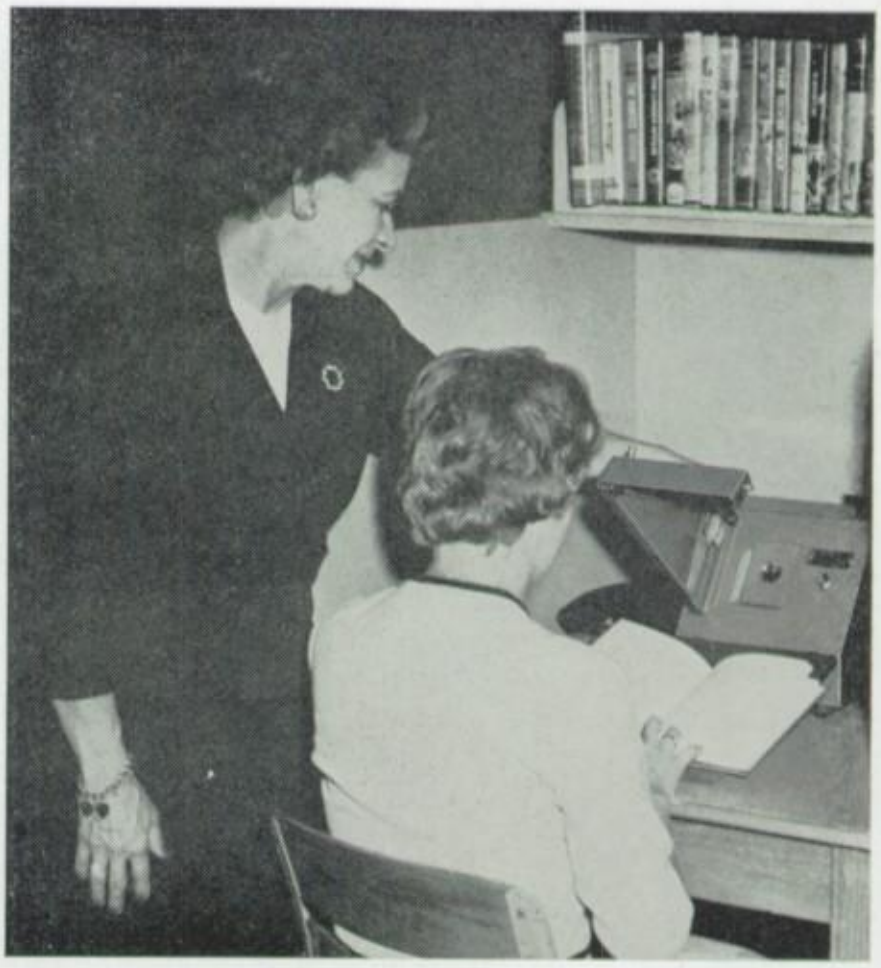


TRYING SO HARD! This student juggles with his books while preparing his homework in the auditorium.

AIR OF CALMNESS! It looks calm now but Continentals know that the early car gets a parking space.

PATIENCE! Underclassmen wait impatiently in the long line for their turn to eat.

AFFIRMATIVE OR NEGATIVE? Bette Kremer and Jerry Wampler plan the strategy for a debate.

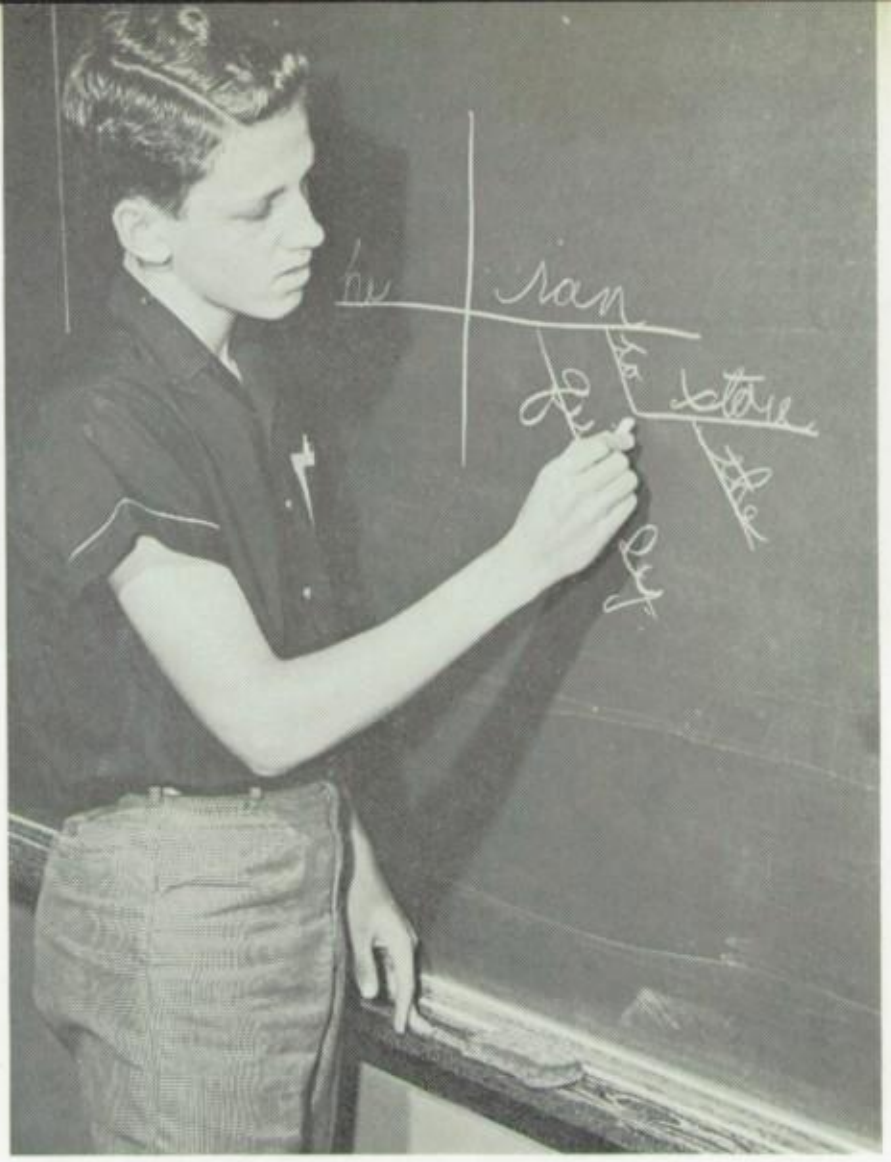


FAST, FASTER, FASTEST! Mrs. Florence Smith shows a student the proper technique to use while developing reading skills in the reading laboratory.

Life Challenges

BOOKWORMS? Many students make use of the library for term paper research, reports and take out books and periodicals for their own use.

English enables us to communicate with others. English encourages us to increase our skills in reading, writing, speaking, and listening. These skills stimulate our thinking and increase our abilities in self expression. Time spent in the reading laboratory helps to increase our reading ability and comprehension. Three years of English are required for all but those on the Fine and Practical Arts and Academic diplomas. The pupils on these diplomas must take two of the three advanced English courses offered. In addition to the regular English courses, journalism and speech may be elected. One's interest may be in poetry. For those who are oratorically inclined, there is the Poetry Reading Contest sponsored by the English Department. English is a tool used to advance our education and knowledge and should be so considered. Without it, all would be at a great loss. The knowledge of good English and its uses, enables one to have possibilities of achievement and success.



HE RAN WHERE? Diagraming sentences at the board doesn't create much of a problem for Dave Matheny in his freshman English I class.

in English stimulate varied interests

NEW AND STRIVING! Freshman students enjoy getting acquainted with one of the new members of the English department, Mrs. Beverly Harlan.

Study in Foreign languages and PARLEZ-VOUS FRANCAIS? Under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Ulrey, Continentals vigorously attack the problem of training their English minds to think and to speak in French.

COMO ESTA USTED? George Hart, having spent eight months in Mexico, is well qualified to explain a finer point to a Spanish class.

Latin and Spanish were the only languages offered to pupils until last year when French was added to the curriculum. All three languages are now well distributed in the schedules of George Washington High School. Latin, the most ancient of languages, is offered to prepare pupils desiring liberal arts diplomas in college. Latin is carried four semesters followed by Virgil and Cicero. This advanced Latin largely consists of translation and literature. The language Department sponsors the Roman Banquet planned annually honoring those in the Latin Club. Spanish is also offered to those on academic diplomas and is completed in four semesters. French is not a required language as Spanish and Latin. Nevertheless, it is offered to anyone who wishes to take it. With the combination of these three languages, the Language Department is steadily growing in enrollment.

social studies adds depth to character

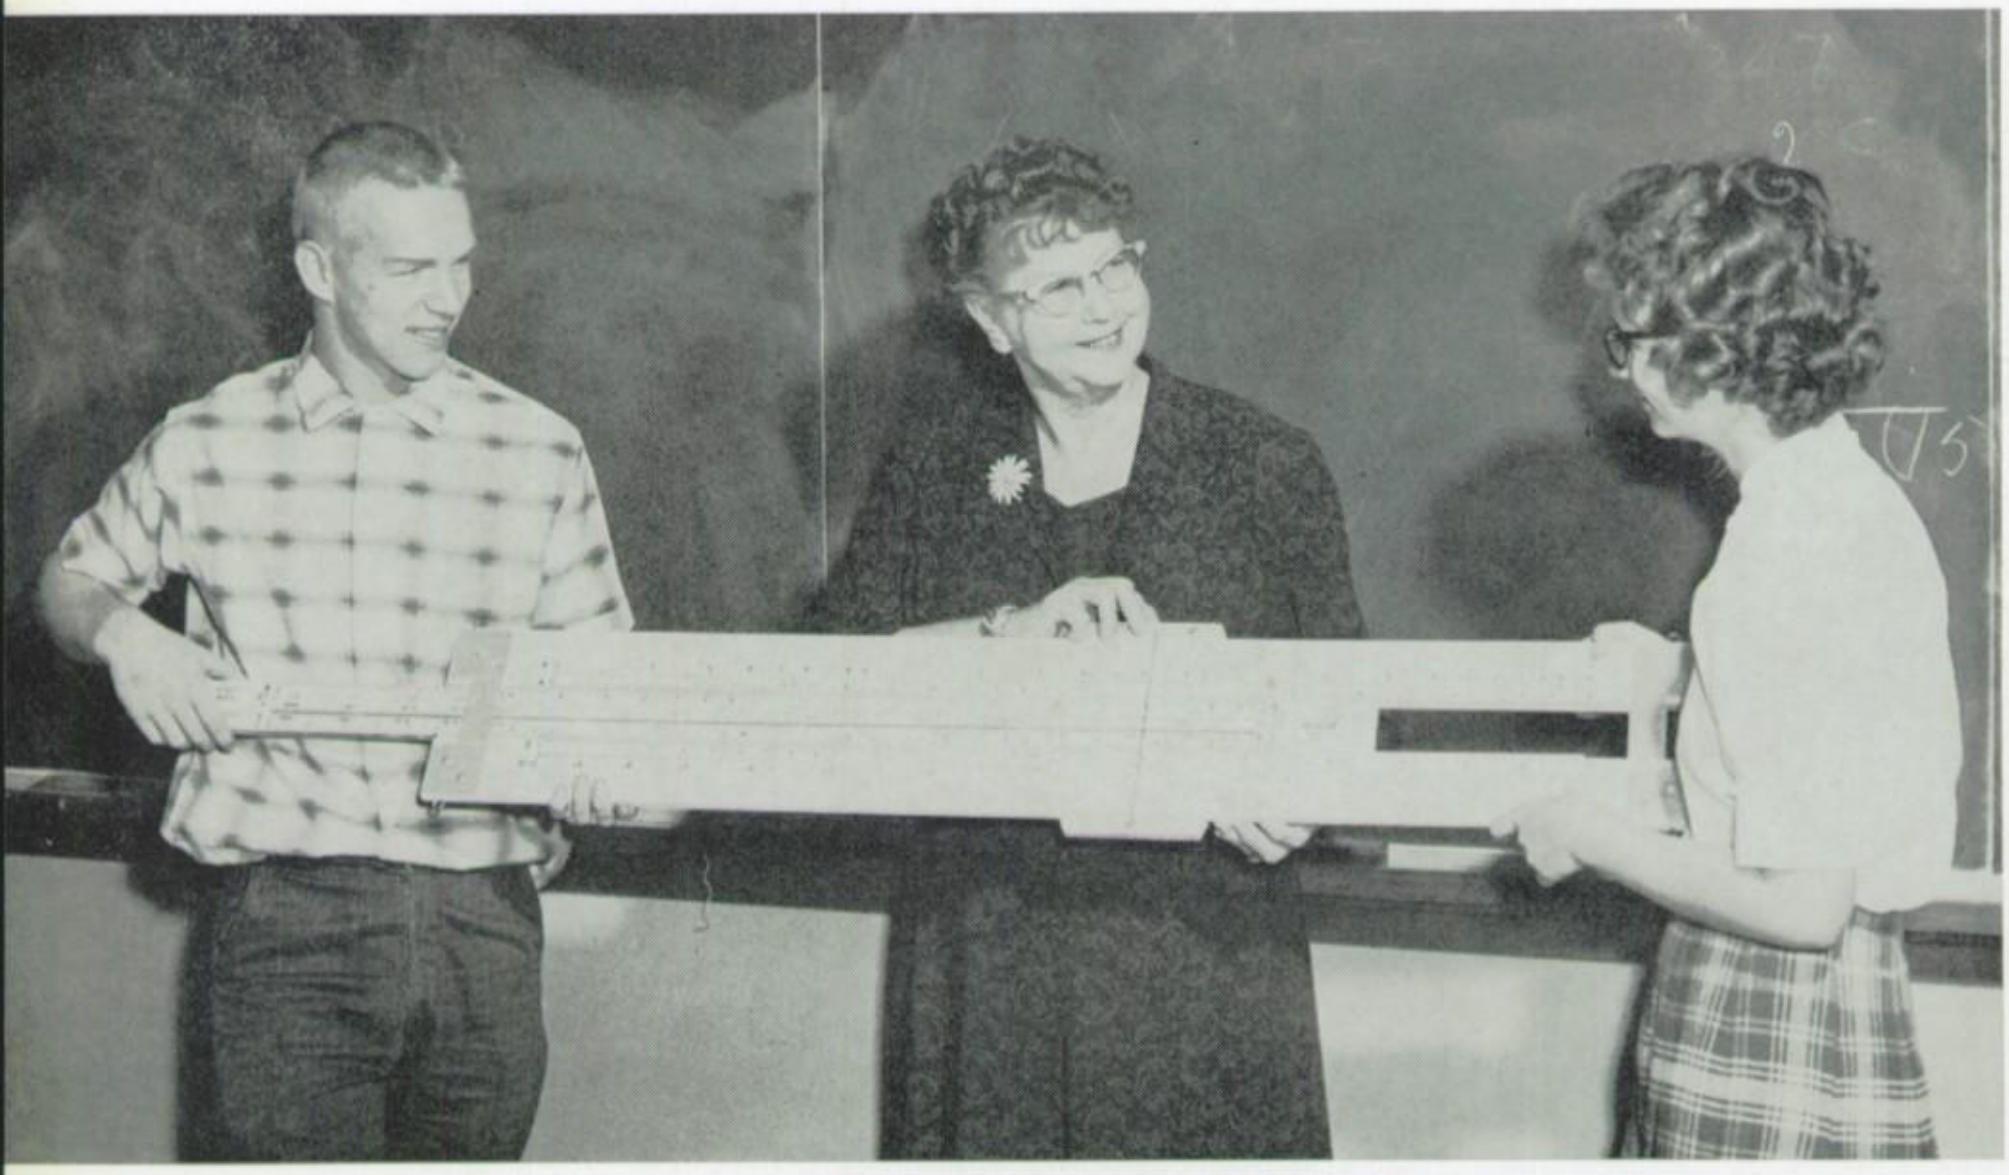
I FOUND IT! Jackie Stilwell informs David Belser of an important location in the Southeastern United States.

In an attenpt to make our history courses more interesting, outside activities were sponsored. The Junto Club was sponsored by Mrs. Lamkin and Mr. Zenor t h i s year. A United States History g class had a chance to be on radio's Junior Town Meeting again this year, while some of the Government classes gave talks over the Public Address system. When seniors had their campaign and election in the Fall, they had an opportunity to show their knowledge of government procedures. As well as studying events of the past, Continentals studied present day affairs also. The history student at Washington had an opportunity to apply for a scholarship sponsored by the Lilly Endowment Foundation if the research paper he had written was chosen as one representing knowledge and ability.

IN BOMBAY. Mrs. Deer shows Mike Durham some of the treasures she brought from India.

FIND THE SQUARE ROOT OF MINUS NINE! Barbara McBride and Elmer Mackey find it difficult to grasp the new ideas introduced in freshman algebra.

Wonder of mathematics



BUDDING MATHEMATICIANS? Reba Koch and Paul Marlow seek help in solving a trigonometry problem from Miss Ely.

Figures, facts, and formulas! This is what the Math Department at George Washington High School provides. This department offers general math, algebra, geometery, College Algebra, Senior Math, trigonometery, and Analytic Geometery. Math is the foundation for every occupation, and is usually helpful to success in business. The Fine and Practical Arts Diploma requires two years of math, usually one year of general math andd one year of algebra. The Academic diploma requires one year of geometery. Trigonometery and Analytic Geometery are excellant college prepartory courses for the study of engineering. Because science advances so rapidly, math is becoming more essential to every person. Even if a pupil does not plan to further his education after graduation, math is needed in everyday life. It is very important, and everyone should understand its fundamentals in order to progress in their chosen field in this day and age.

TO CONSTRUCT THIS... Mr. Robert Badgley shows Nancy McFall, Malcolm Marlow and Cheryl Roberts some of the skills of Geometry.

attracts eyes of many interested students

ADD 'UM UP! In this general math class, Jo Anne Ringenberger demonstrates to Miss Patricia Kirby correct methods of long addition.

WHAT IS YOUR CLASS STANDING? Twice each year members of the math department compute Senior Class standings. Mrs. Viola Ramsey, Mr. Wayne Girdley, Mr. Don Cunningham, and Miss Vivian Ely are making final checks for the senior class.

MEET YOUR DEADLINES! Members of the SURVEYOR staff are Gloria Bradford, Helen Lucas, Donna Baldwin, Carolyn Wise, Joyce Lollar, John Koon, Charles Spurgeon, Bill Foreman, Bob Samper, Mike Durham, Virginia Cole, Michele Welch, Suzanne Wright, Pam Threkeld, Peggy Bergan, Angela Watt, and Bette Kremer.

Creative minds

The SURVEYOR is a bi-weekly newspaper that is p r i n t e d and edited in our own high school print shop. The staff is separated into the News Bureau, which writes for the three neighborhood papers, two city papers, and the Teen Star; and the regular staff members who concentrate their efforts toward putting o u t an outstanding paper. Mrs. Anita Morris, the adviser and sponsor, assists the staff in keeping the publications r u n n i n g smoothly and efficiently. The Surveyor staff works hard during and after school to cover its "beats." During the fall, the staff sponsored and conducted a contest to "Name the Elephant" which our s c h o o l brought for the zoo. In the summer three members are s e n t to the Indiana University Journalism Institute where they compare a n d evaluate our paper with other high school publications. The main goal of the staff members is to keep the student body informed and up to d a t e on all school occassions and current events of importance.

CHECK THOSE PROOFS! Reading carefully a r e Charles Spurgeon, editor-in-chief; John Koon, assistant editor; Virginia Cole, news bureau chief; and Mr. Michael C. Barrett, printing instructor.

display original ideas through publications

The tradition of high school yearbooks was established many years ago. Today, all high schools across the U.S.A. have helped to carry on this tradition. During the many events of 1962 and 1963 the POST staff has worked diligently to capture them all. The co-editors and business managers have remained faithfully together to see that all publication business of the year gone by has been carried through. The other members of the staff were kept busy meeting all deadlines and working extra hard during the sales campaign and picture sales. The copy editor made sure that copy reading was completed before passing the copy on, while the sports editor gathered all sports events of the past seasons. By panel paste-up time everyone was really in the swing of things. Having won the All-American Award last year, the staff has high hopes for the coming years.

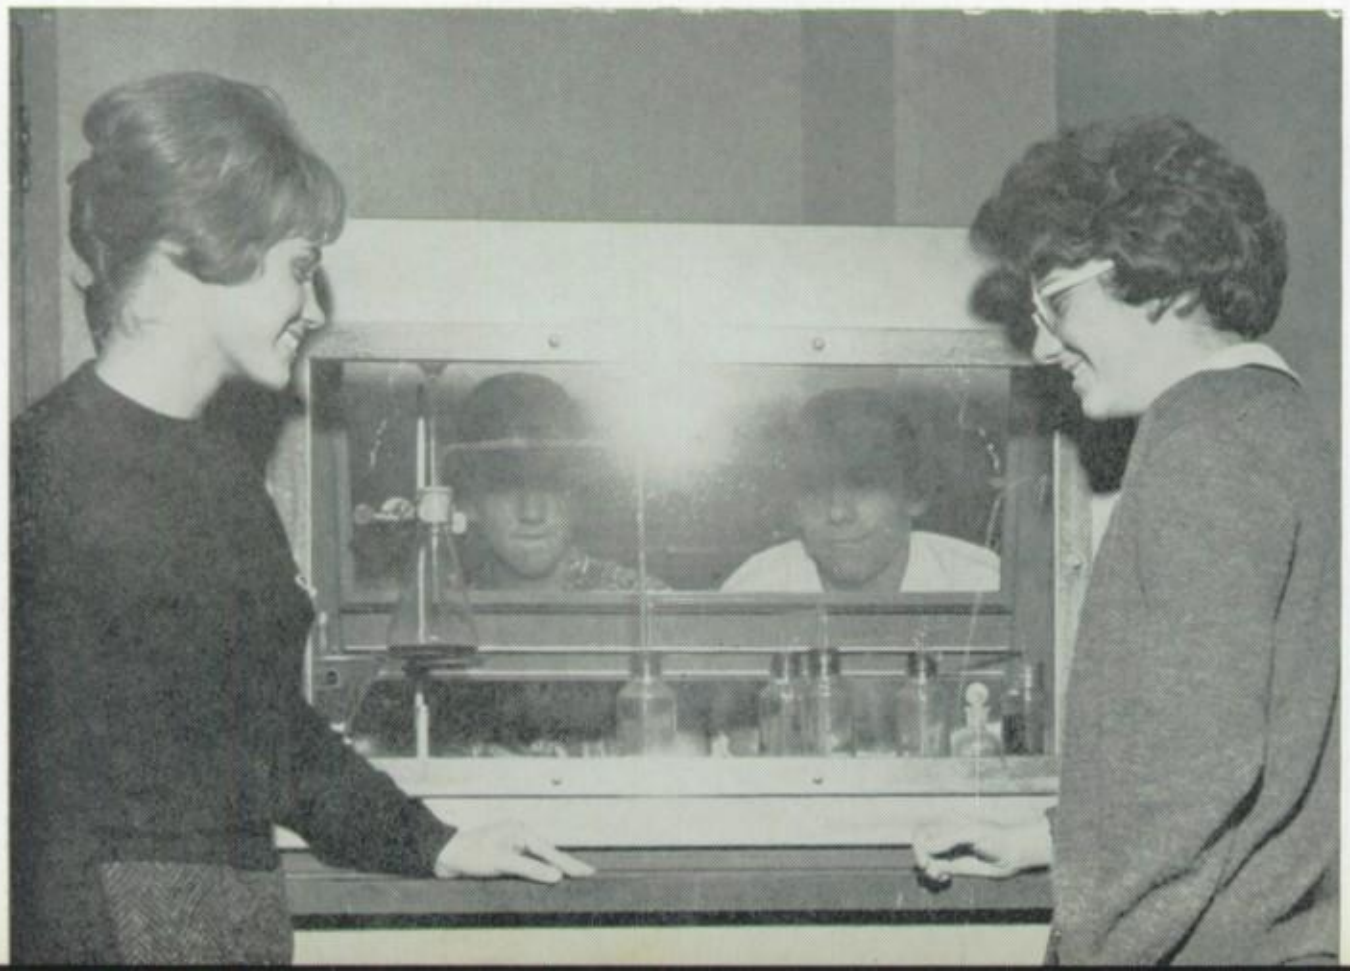
THIS SHOULD BE ON PAGE 10! Co-editors, Gary McFall and Linda Jeter recheck the '63 POST dummy while Business Manager, JoAnn Campbell adds advice.

The Science Department offers courses of importance to every student. For those not planning to attend college, physical science contains topics that will be helpful in every day living. Biology is important to college bound students as well as those who will seek employment after graduation, and an advanced biology course presents opportunities to do detailed study in human anatomy and physiology. Physics is a basic course for any pupil planning an engineering career while chemistry is also a pre-requisite for college. Scientifically minded students do research as part of the Science Club activity, and this reference work can be done in the Science Library, which contains more than 3000 volumes. Annually a student can be nominated for the "Outstanding Scientist" Award. This involves statewide competition and is sponsored by the Junior Academy of Science. It is presented in the spring.

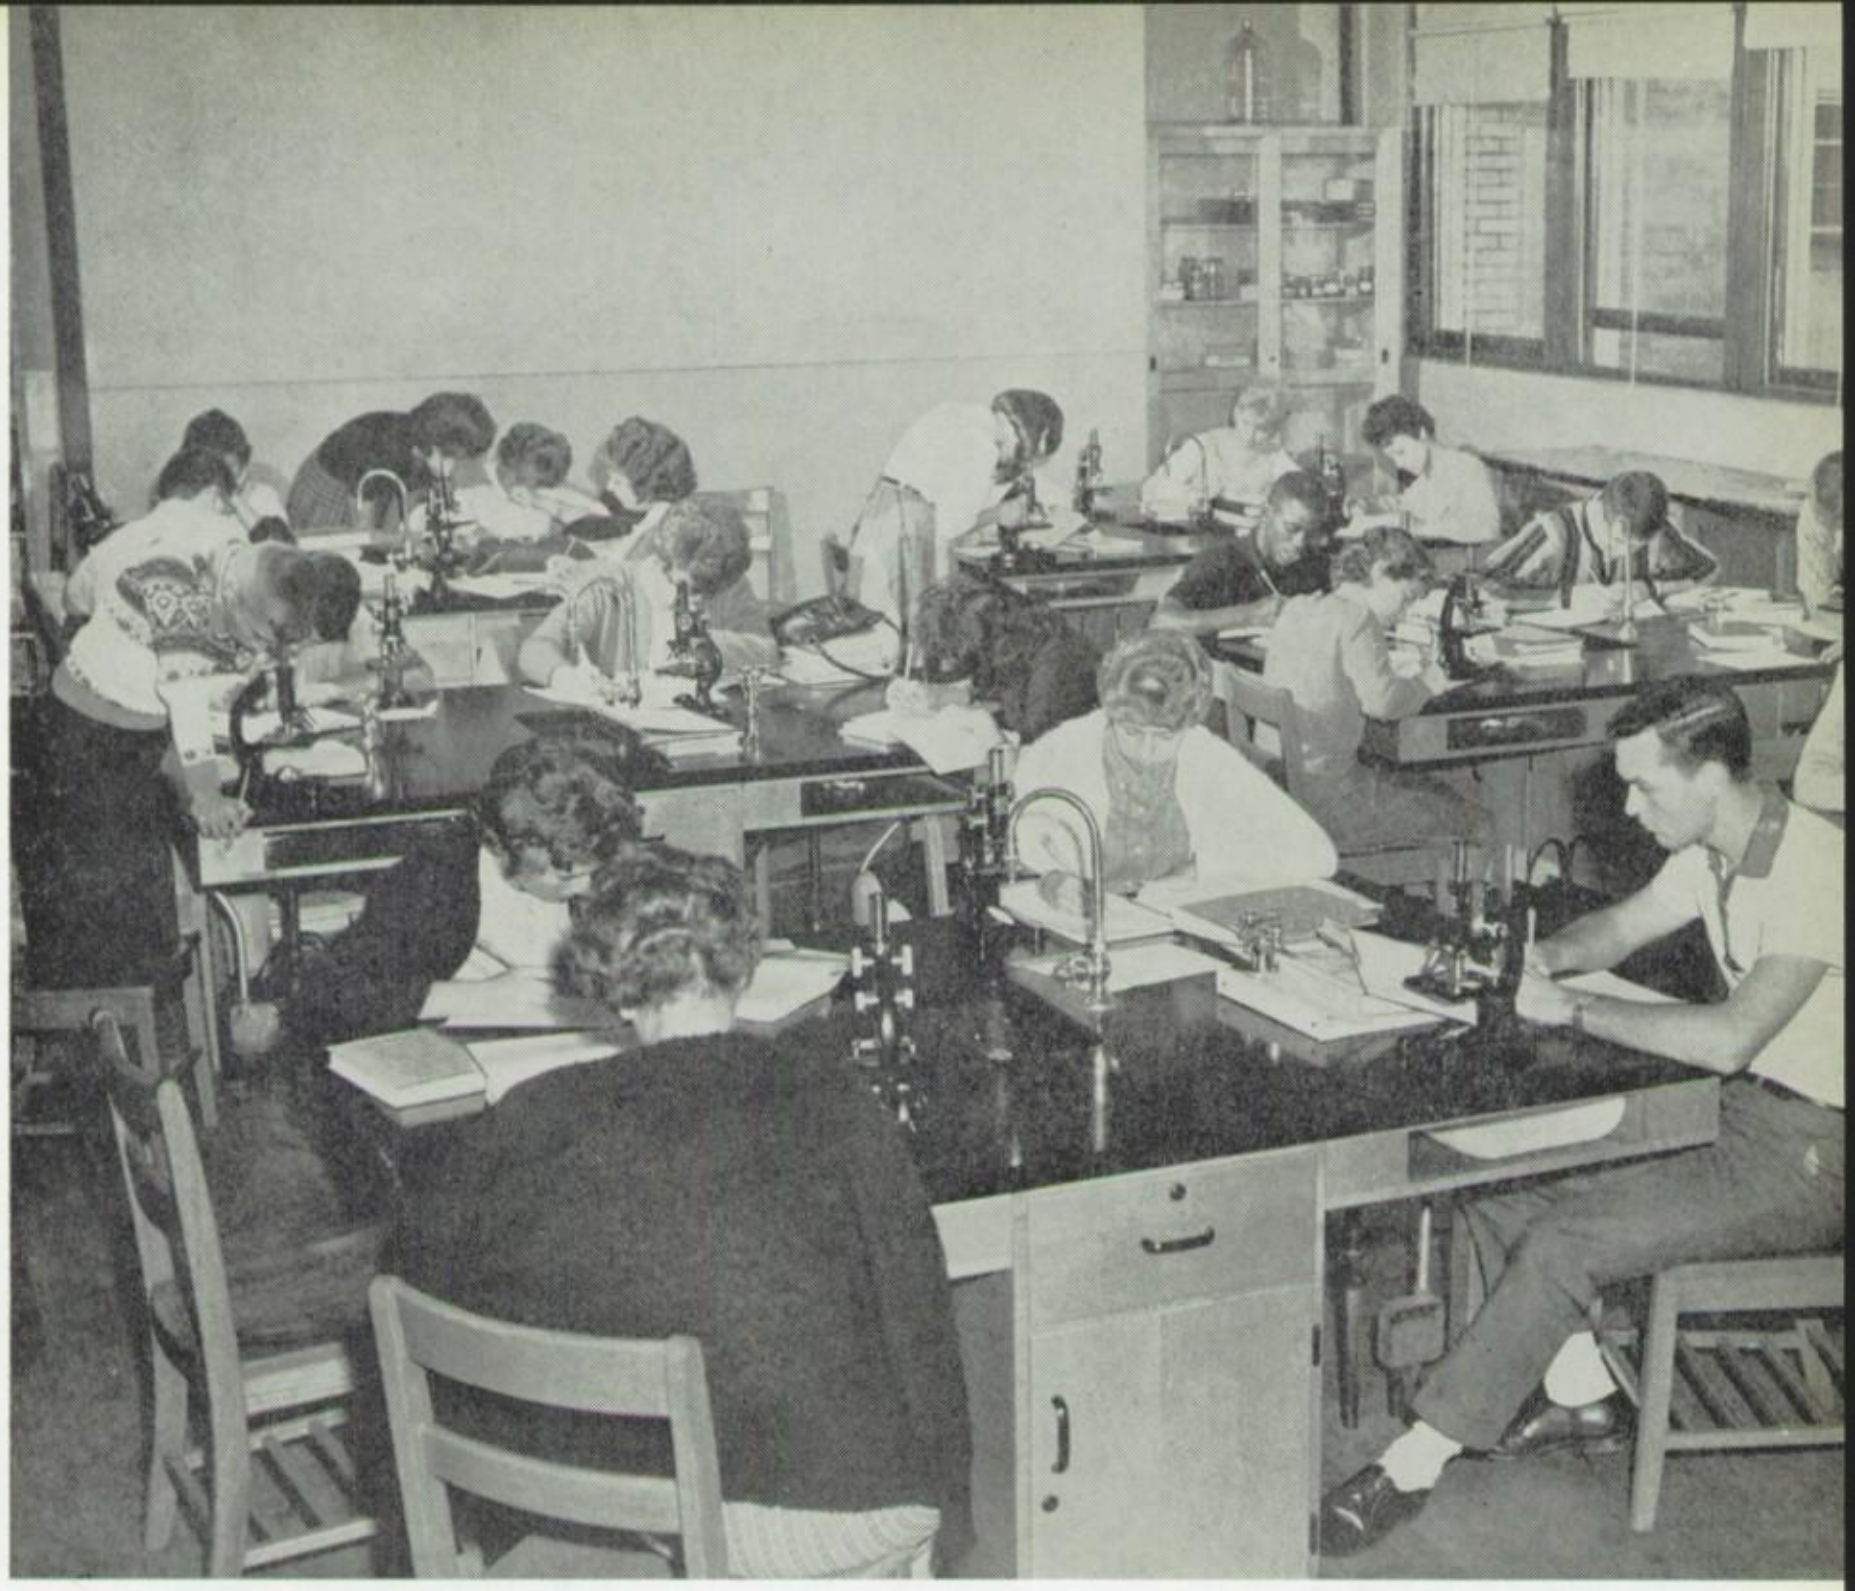
ACCURACY COUNTS! Students in the physical science classes learn the importance of measurements.

OUTSTANDING SCIENCE TEACHER! Mrs. Elizabeth Crider brought honor to our school by being chosen as Indiana's Outstanding Science Teacher.

Pursuit of

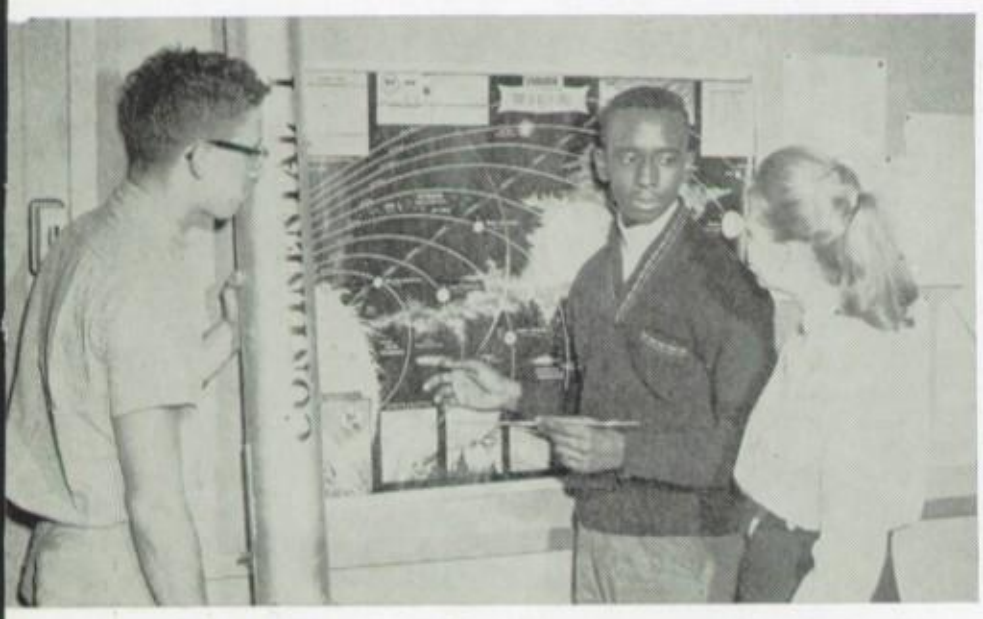


MAD SCIENTISTS? Students in the chemistry classes demonstrate one of their many classroom experiments.



STUDY MAKES PERFECT. These advanced biology students are learning more about life around us by viewing slides.

scientific data activates young minds



FROM MARS TO PLUTO. Joe Mitchell shows Steve Hiese and Janice Nash the construction of the solar system and the bodies therein.

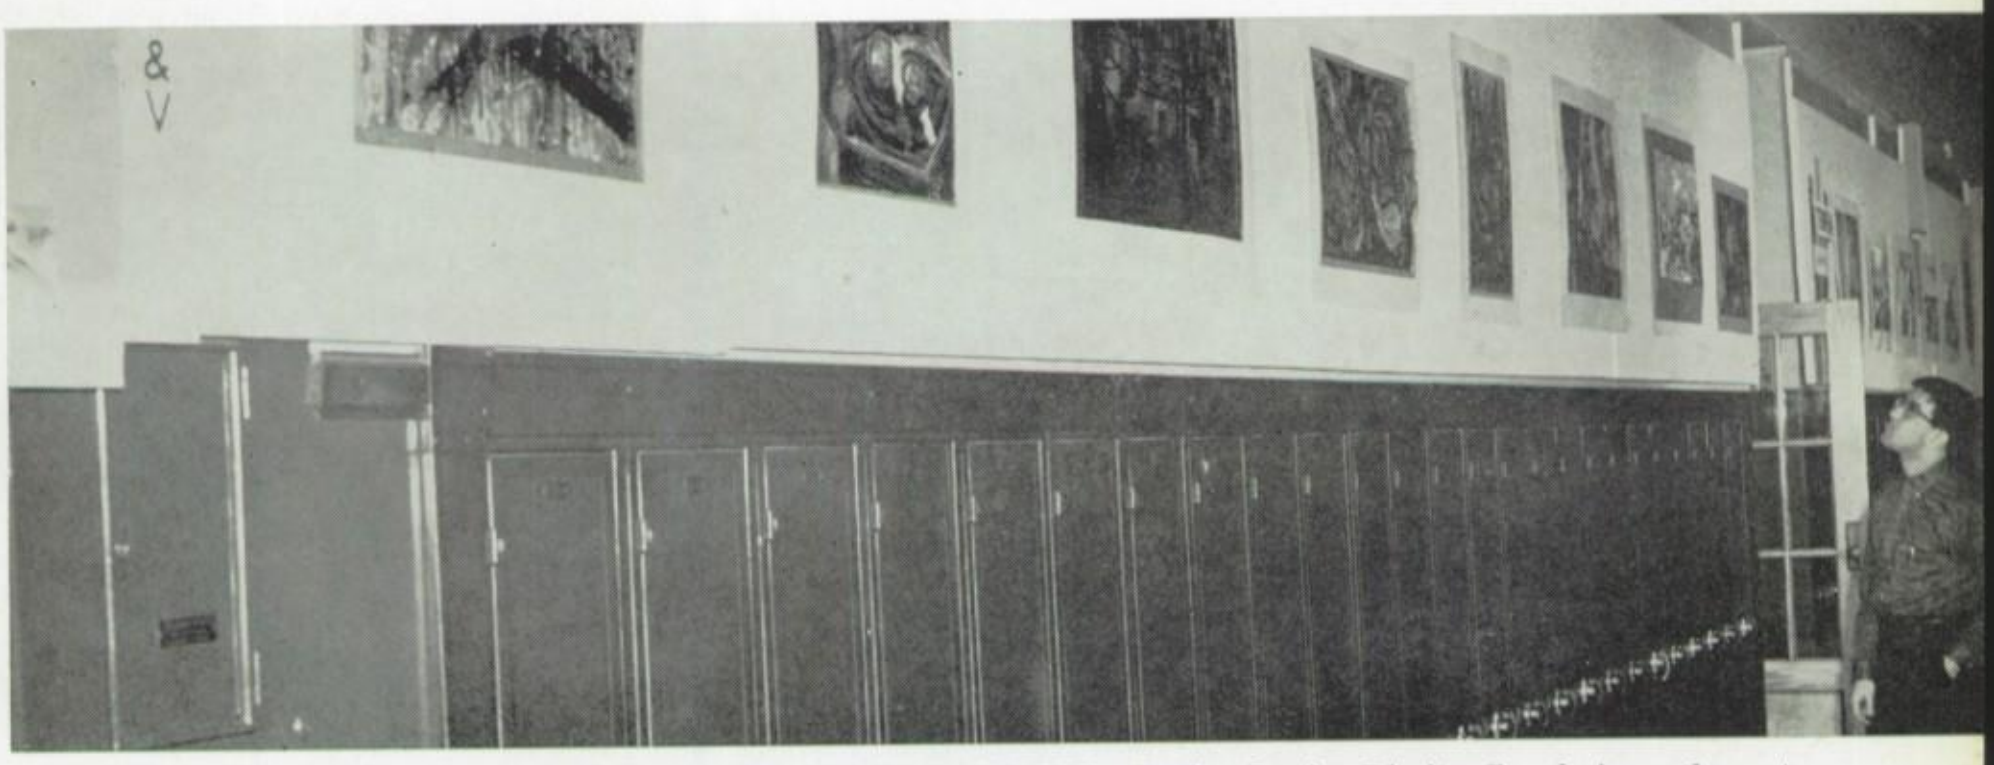
NUCLEUS, PROTRONS,——? Preparing a science demonstration is but one of the duties of science department assistance, Helen Lucas.

Offered to the up-and-coming executives are several standard business courses. Certificates and pins are awarded in typing. Shorthand is offered four semesters—the fourth is usually accompanied by transcription. As an extra honor in Shorthand, the pin is awarded for 120 words. One project is given every semester in bookkeeping to test the student's ability to apply the bookkeeping rules. Business Law covers the acts and statutes passed to protect business and the consumers. Salesmanship teaches the student the skills in the field of selling. Machine Calculation instructs proficiency in the operation of office machines. General Business is an introductory course to business. Notehand teaches the fundamental rules of shorthand for personal use. Advanced Business acquaints the future executive with the standard office procedure.

WHERE DID THE MONEY GO? Tommy Anderson and Erma McClellan study a budget chart in one of general business classes offered to pupils.

Pupils prepare for future in business

KEEP YOUR EYES ON THE BOOK! Students enrolled in the typing courses are taught the fundamentals of this useful skill.



MINIATURE GALLERY. Senior Louis Dimitroff admires the art work of our students displayed in the upper hall.

Artistic ability glitters in art course. . .

The art department at Washington has taken the upper halls of the school for it's own art gallery by displaying minor masterpieces. This display shows what progess is being made in this department. This art program enables the students interested in all aspects of art to enter into most any field. Whether it's drawing, painting, or sketching; a little bit of each person's feelings, ideas, and talent enter into their pictures. This department offers craft art, commercial art, lettering, jewelry, and advanced courses in craft and art. Earlier in the year Washington had several projects on display at the Senior High School Art Exhibit at the John Herron Art Museum. Each year these students at Washington have on display their talent in the Scholastic Art Exhibition. We are fortunate to have this fine program that has won many contest awards. The awards that are given are blue ribbons, gold keys, and honorable mentions. Many honors are awarded to the teachers and students of this department.

GOING PLACES? Students planning to be commercial artists gain much valuable experience by making travel posters in Commercial Art class.

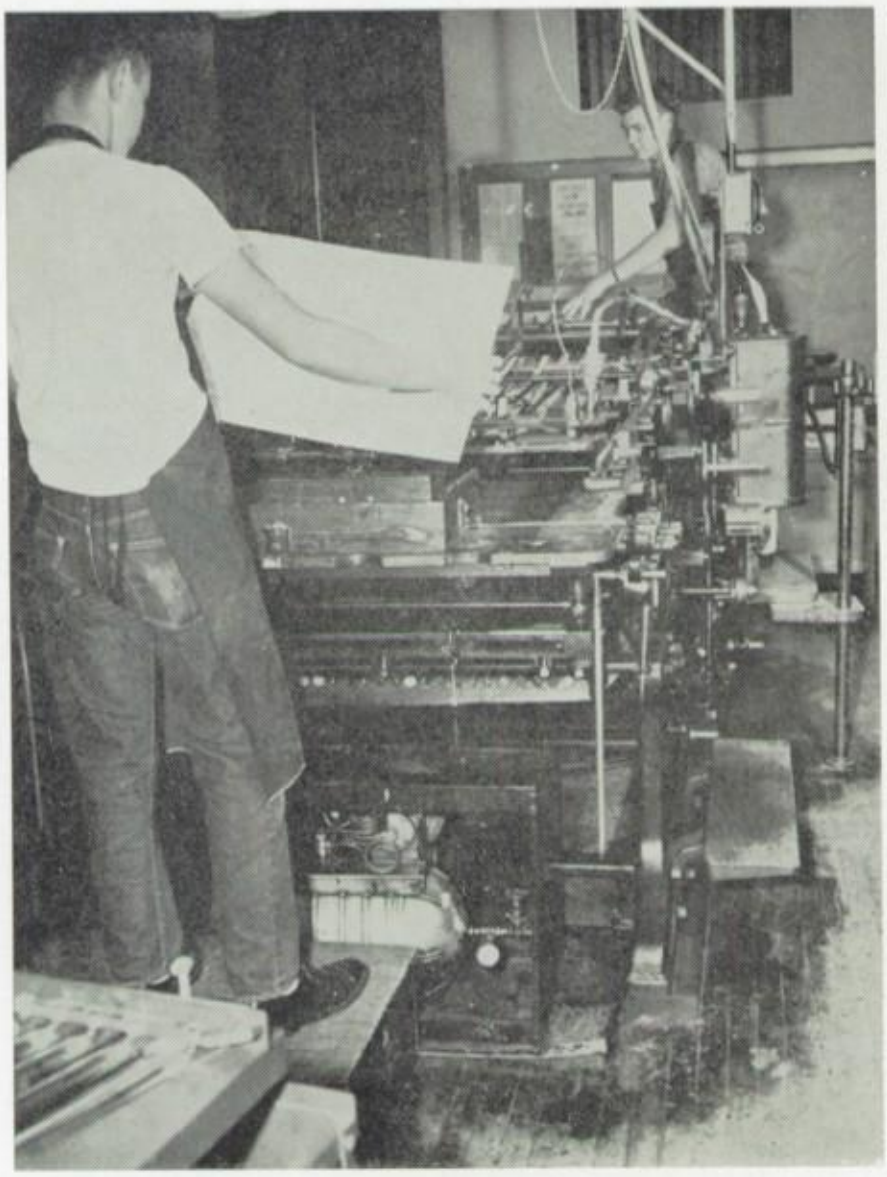
THE THING TO DO? Members of Miss Rose King's family living class carry on a panel discussion on the pros and cons of going steady.

Pupils participate in vocational departments

QUICK SERVICE! Eleanor Firestone serves at the Leadership Luncheon given to honor outstanding junior and senior pupils.

Ranging from freshmen to seniors, the students at Washington High School often include home economics as one of their elected subjects. The two major divisions are foods and sewing classes. In the sewing classes the girls learn to read and use patterns, making everything from blouses to formals. Advancement is also an important part of the foods classes. The students begin in foods by working directly in the labs and preparing simple dishes. In the advanced foods classes the girls and boys serve formal dinners and also the monthly Business Men's Luncheon. Other divisions in the home economics department include Home Hygiene, Family Living, and Home Management. Any one of these many home economics courses is instructive as well as preparatory and will play an important part in the future lives of the Washington High School students.

Any student hungry for authentic vocational training can satisfy his appetite by inrolling in the Industral Arts Department of George Washington High School. While the prospective shopman examines the variety of courses offered he notices there are six especially tempting ones: Drafting, Machinery, Woodworking, Electricty, Printing, and Auto Shop. Each of these courses is served with generous helpings of professional instruction and up-to-date industrial equipment. As an appetizer, the Continental might choose printing. With this course he would aid in the printing of all official school documents and in the production of The SURVEYOR and The POST. A study in mechanical d r a w i n g would then be an excellant main course to consider. Here t h e individual would learn the art of drafting and blue-print reading. If t h e Continental desires a little something extra, he may fulfill his craving by electing advanced course in drafting, w o o d-working, and electricty. A well-balanced Industrial Arts program is always ready to be served to Washington shop enthusiasts.



PROOF READERS. Bill Keller feeds the paper into the printing machine as Jess Roberts proof reads.

as they prepare for related careers

BUSY BUILDERS. Veldon Smith, Paul Armer, and Steve Shouse construct a building in drafting.

READY FOR SONG! Under the direction of Mrs. King the Girls' Ensemble includes Carole Jones, Suzanne St. John, Carol Cook, Vicki Benson, Dorothy Baird, Mary Louise Medsker, Connie Hoschower, Darla Moore, Rosalie Douglass, Karen Wiley, Janet Blake, Kathy Hurst, Donna Davis, Kay Fox, and Judy Lee.

Both vocal and instrumental music play an important role in the lives of many Washington High School students. Our "Marching Continentals" are at an all time peak in performance. The band now contains the largest numbers of members ever and is lead by two head majorettes. Both the majorettes and the skilled band members add a special touch to many school events.

The advanced vocal music groups also add an outstanding touch to Washington's music programs. The Girls' Ensemble sings at many school and church functions.

Our Continentalaires and Colonial Chorus are the two most advanced music groups at Washington High School. These two groups sing at local and city-wide programs representing Washington High School. with an outstanding performance. All of our music groups at Washington give a splendid example of our talented Continentals and the many hours spent in preparation for their performances.

Under the able direction of Miss Ruth Rosser, the orchestra groups have soared to new heights. The latest addition at Washington High School is the Symphonette. Students are chosen from the Junior and Senior Orchestras. All three groups perform at school convocations, contest, festivals, P-TA meetings, and many nearby grade schools. Each year four orchestra students are chosen to perform in an All-City High School Symphony. Through all these activities, students find pleasure and add to their backgrounds in the musical field.

For many years the Girls' and Boys' Concert Clubs have been training grounds for students interested in more specialized vocal music. These vocal groups perform at some school convocations, spring festivals, and P-TA meetings. They are directed by Mrs. Ruth King and Mr. Thomas McCormick. The students in Girls' and Boys' Concert Club are taught the purpose for broadening their knowledge of music.

GET THAT BALL! In the Boys' Physical Education classes, many sports and exercises are taught to stimulate interests and help the boys to maintain a physical fitness program recommended by the President.

Physical fitness and military

GO TEAM, GO! Continental girls have an opportunity to develop skill and co-ordination during their games and exercises in Girls' Physical Education.

Since physical education is an important basis for life, this department at Washington tries to promote healthy outlets for the students interested in the aspects of life. At least one year of physical education is required and after this many students further their interest in physical training. They may enter a sport activity or may become a gym assistant for one or two semesters. Health and safety is another phase in this department at Washington. This course is a full credit, is required, and is now called Health and Safety I. Health and safety helps to create an understanding of what good heath is and how our human organs function. First aid and d r i v e r ' s education, now called Health and Safety II, is a course which helps the students learn the policies and procedures of becoming a safe and skilled driver by actually driving a car. Statistics have proven that this training in good driving habits has considerable influence on a person's later record as a safe driver.

"CAISSIONS GO ROLLING ALONG." Marching in military parades is only one of the many activities of the ROTC battle group.

training contributes to mental alertness

Fundamentals of military training are taught under the direction of M/Sgt. A. P. Jenkins and P/Sgt. Robert R. Bowman. Such techniques as dismantling, reassembling, and cleaning rifles are the basic requirements of Washington ROTC cadets. During the year the cadets perform in the Armistice Day Parade. A finale of the year's activities is the annual Federal Inspection. At this event military officials review the squads of cadets in their knowledge of the fundamentals. Four cadets are chosen for the entire year to present the colors at all athletic events. A crowning to the year's activities is the annual military ball. The queen is chosen from the student sponsors to reign over the evening's activities. Each week all cadets must pass an inspection for which they are graded on appearance and basic knowledge of the ROTC Codes. A part of each weeks activities is an inspection of the cadets. They are rated according to their appearance by a group of student sponsors. Their student sponsors are Trena Mervar, Vicki Hennigar, Michele Welch, Janice Nash, and Cheryl Swarts. The winners are awarded emblems for their uniforms.

PENTAGON-BOUND? Members of the ROTC staff are row 1: Claude Benson, Sherman Wolf, Harry Alexender; row 2: William Carroll, Bernard Overstreet; row 3: Richard Burdett, Steven West, Philip Myers.

ACTIVITIES

Fellowship, profitable experiences, and hours of pleasure direct young minds toward channels opened by energetic participation in extra-curricular activities.

Queens reign over Continentaland from September to June. Junior Becky Mraz, Jamboree Queen, was named at the annual Football Jamboree. She was chosen by members of the football team. As months passed, the student body elected a queen who was crowned during the half-time program of the Homecoming football game. This brought back old memories as returning alumni viewed the game. This year Sue Douglass was chosen Homecoming Queen with Jane Horner, Paulette Frye, Donna Baldwin, and Vicki Wright as her court. Senior Cheryl Swartz was selected as Princess of Light by the Senior Class. She represented Washington Continentals in a gala Christmas parade. The cindermen chose a queen to reign at home track meets and to present awards. A lucky Junior lass, as Clean-up Queen, ruled the Continental kingdom during the Clean-up Campaign. The queens and courts are regarded by pupils with honor and distinction. They add much festivity and gaiety to the school year and are enthusiastically supported by all.

MILITARY ROYALTY...The crowning event of the Military Ball is the selection of Queen Cheryl Swartz. Congratulating Miss Swartz are Mr. Cloyd J. Julian, principal, and Mickey Eller, cadet colonel.

Reigning royalty adds glamour and festive

RECORD SETTERS? Members of the Track Queen Court are Nancy McFall, Cheryl Roberts, Sandy Lambert, Track Queen; Clancie Opp, and Linda Jeter.

CLEAN UP! PAINT UP! FIX UP! Starting her official duties as Clean-Up Queen Janet Blake gives her assistance to the school painters.

HOPEFUL QUEENS... Candidates for Football Homecoming Queen are Paulette Frye, Sue Douglass, Donna Baldwin, Vicki Wright, and Jane Horner.

touch to school year

KICK-OFF! All-City halfback, George Marlow, holds the football for Jamboree Queen, Becky Mraz, as she attempts a kick-off to start the season.

PRINCESS REFLECTS TRADITION! Each year the Downtown Merchant Association sponsors a "Princess of Light" contest. This year the candidate from our school was Cheryl Swarts.

OFF TO I. U. Chosen to represent Washington at the Student Government Association were Charles Crawford, Becky Mraz, Jim Arvin, and Carolyn Wise.

During the summer, a number of pupils from Washington represented our school at different conferences held throughout the United States. Representatives from the Dramatics Club were sent to Denver for five weeks where they learned the techniques and qualifications needed to become successful in their fields. Other students interested in the theater went to Purdue University for the Drama Workshop For three weeks, they went to classes taught by college professors that inspired and expanded their knowledge of the stage. In addition, debate students attended classes with college students for two weeks at Ball State Teacher's College. Here they were given an opportunity to work on extemporaneous speaking. Pupils from the Student Council Advisory Board were sent as delegates to Indiana University for one week last summer. During this time, the students on the Student Government Association trip studied new ways of organizing our Student Council.

Pupils visit workshop and gain experience

WHO IS AFFIRMATIVE? Jerry Wampler, Craig Johnson, Linda Bennett, Mickey Eller, Mary Martin, and Bette Kremer were the privileged few who spent two weeks at Ball State's speech workshop.

PULL BACK THE CURTAIN! ! Suzanne St. John, Charlene Zeronik, and Dorothy Baird were the three who went to Purdue and Denver.

FUTURE POLITICIANS? Maryann Alexander, Clark Dickerson, Barbara Richwine, Mickey Eller, Jane Horner, Gary McFall, and Sue Douglass represented Washington High School at Girls' and Boys' State.

GENIUS IN THE MAKING! Bill Russell, William Carroll, Gary Gunther, Reba Koch, and Gordon Clark discuss a Science Club project with their sponsor Mrs. Crider.

Each year Washington High School sends top-ranking members of the Junior Class to Hooiser Boys' and Girls' States. These one week sessions are held on the campus of Indiana University. While there, the delegates elected officials ranging from governor to city sanitation officials.

A cruise through the Great Lakes: this was the unusual experience Gordon Clark was afforded last summer. As a result of winning a state science contest he was awarded the honor of representing Washington on the Navy cruise.

Indiana University was home to another group of Washington students this past summer as top jounrnalists attended workshops there. The editors and business managers of THE SURVEYOR and POST spent two weeks on the campus. They attended daily classes.

JOURNALISM JUNKET! Charles Spurgeon, Gary McFall, Linda Jeter, John Koon, and JoAnn Campbell were chosen to attend Indiana University to learn about journalism procedures.

QUIZ KIDS! Members of the Exercise Into Knowledge panel ready themselves to meet all questions that they might be asked. Members of the panel are Charles Crawford, William Carroll, Charlene Zeronik, Mickey Eller, and Emilie Parsons.

SUMMIT MEETING? Red Cross Club members Barbara Martin, Sandy Lambert, Byron Personett, Marwayne Smith, and Linda O'Banion make plans to aid in some worthwhile cause.

Service organizations and honorary groups

ONE, TWO, THREE, PUSH! Cheryl Roberts, Craig Johnson, Mickey Eller, Margaret Knight, and Rusty Redenbarger may be having trouble getting the car started, but they'll get to the Intra-City Student Council meeting on time. This group meets monthly.

ATTENTION PLEASE! Bill Russell addresses the National Forensic League. Members include Mary Martin, Doug Johnson, Bette Kremer, sponsor Miss Allie Dragoo, Craig Johnson, Linda Baker, Tena Tearney, Jo Lynn Lyons, and Ann Lyle.

READY TO HELP! The Dean of Girls, Miss Horne, is making plans for future activities with the officers of the Washingtonians, Janet Young, Sandy Phillips, Jean Beard, Diane Yovanich, and Carolyn Wise.

The Washingtonians, the senior girls' service club, elected Carolyn Wise as their president last year. These girls help the freshmen girls adjust to Washington's social life by sponsoring a big sister-little sister party in the fall.

The National Thespians, a dramatics honorary, sponsors and presents plays for the students' enjoyment and entertainment.

The National Forensic League is made up of pupils who have acquired enough points from their speech activities to qualify for this honorary group. Members are eligible for contests, degrees, and pins.

The debaters travel to many different parts of Indiana to compete in speech tournaments against the debating teams of other high schools. The teachers of the English Department help the student in compiling the debate material from current events. With this material, the debater and his partner will either take the position of affirmative or negative, meaning "for" or "against" the issue.

The Future Teachers of America Club, better known as the FTA, is designed especially for the young person who is interested in a teaching career.

The Honor Society is an elite club consisting of those students whose records are outstanding academically. To qualify for the Honor Society, an "A" or "B" average must be attained along with having ambition and good citizenship.

The Student Council is a central student governing body which organizes plans and projects for the advancement of the classes and for the general interests of the school. It consists of representatives from each roll room and the officers. To qualify for the Student Council, at least a "C" average and qualities of good citizenship are required.

Cadet teachers, scientists, and journalists

THOUGHTS IN UNISON! Quill and Scroll members combining a variety of ideas for writing copy are Linda Jeter, Virginia Cole, Judy Hinton, Diane Yovanovich, John Koon, and Charles Spurgeon. Judy served as president of the group.

Quill and Scroll is the International Honor Society for high school journalists. Those who are especially interested in journalism find it profitable to be a member of this organization. A student must have at least a B average. He is also required to write at least 100 inches of copy. He must be a member of THE SURVEYOR or THE POST staff for at least two semesters. Self-releance, cooperativeness, adaptability, and initiative are the characteristics developed in journalism and cultivated in the Quill and Scroll.

The Science Club gives all interested students the opportunity to put science to actual use. This club is also for students who wish to do higher level research. This club belongs to many local and national clubs such as the Science Club of America, Indiana Junior Academy of Science, the Future Scientists of America. The Science Club at Washington also belongs to the Indianapolis Science Seminar. The club members enjoy field trips and experiments. Speakers special projects, current scientific events, films, and other activities are sponsored by this club. Each year special students are asked to prepare research papers. The Science Club gives all future scientists an opportunity to win scholarships. It also gives them a chance to attend summer institutes. By being a member of the Science Club, students can develop skill in the advanced study of science.

Cadet teaching is a program which prepares students for a career in the field of education. The students in this program get experience in t e a c h i n g, planning bulletin board displays, grading papers, and giving tests. Before the pupils go into the grade schools, they have a two week instruction period in the high school. Then when they enter the grade schools, they observe the class for one or two weeks, depending on the cooperating teacher and the class. Every two weeks the cadets meet at the high school to confer with each other and compare experiences. After participating in this program, the students have a real insight into the field of teaching. The program is city-wide and is under the supervision of Lewis W. Gilfoy, director of instruction for secondary schools.

AROUND THE END! A charging varsity gridder cuts around his opponent as he surges forward for another Continental gain against the Tech Titans.

TREMENDOUS! In his initial year as head football coach Mr. Robert Springer gave inspiration to the boys who are the Fightin' Continentals.

During the football season greatness dominated Continentaland. This greatness first appeared in Mr. Robert Springer, the new head football coach at Washington. By relying on diligent work and strict discipline, Coach Springer molded a well-trained team out of the gridiron prospects. The ability of this team became evident as the Continentals defeated Columbus' 1961 South Central Conference champs in the opening game. This greatness continued through the season, climaxing with the Cathedral Irish tying Washington's Mighty Continentals. This tie, which prevented the Irish from winning their fourth consecutive city championship, was the first since 1949 between Washington and previously always-victorious Cathedral. Halfback Jerry Sanders ranked fourth in the city in individual scoring, and George Marlow tied in scoring the highest number of points for an end. To add to this glory, George Marlow was chosen for the All-City Team; Jerry Sanders received a second string position on the All-City Team; and Martin Loman and Larry Austin made All-City honorable mention.

TOUCHDOWN! Reserve quarterback, Steve Purichia, charges through the lines as he goes over for another touchdown at the Howe game.

Last year's freshman co-city champs proved their gridiron abilities again by ending the 1962 reserve football season with a creditable 6-3-0 record. Following a defeat by Manual in the opening game, the Washington Reserve, under the leadership of Coach Richard Harmening, demonstrated it's skill by gliding by Shortridge and Sacred Heart. A second setback by Scecina rallied the Continentals and pushed them onward to victories over Broad Ripple, Ben Davis, Tech, and Howe. Washington's future varsity, however, lost to Cathedral in the final game.

Mr. John Williams, the freshman football coach, guided the Little Purple through tough competition to grab a 4-4-1 record. The frosh Continental-men made an impressive start by defeating Manual in the first game of the season. The Washington freshmen then lost to Shortridge, but came charging back to overcome Sacred Heart the following week. Ben Davis and Howe fell to the Continentals also.

Oliver guides new team to 19-4 season

"We've got the Continentals on our team; they're Gr-r-reat!" Washington's varsity basketball team under Coach Jerry Oliver verified this cheer repeatedly throughout the 1962-'63 basketball season as the Mighty Continentals battled from its "rebuilding-year" status to the city's No. 1 position. After an opening game loss to Howe, the Washington hoopsters staged a thirteen game winning streak. In the eleventh of these winning games, the first game of the city tourney, the Continentals overcame the soon-to-be Indianapolis sectional and regional champion, Broad Ripple. Attucks, last year's city and sectional winner, then became Washington's twelfth victim. In the final game of the city tourney the desire-filled Olivermen fought courageously to defeat Tech, the state's ninth ranked team, to win the coveted City Championship, Washington's first since 1942. Along with the championship, four Washington players earned positions on the city's All-Tourney Team: Clark Dickerson and John Dowdell—forwards, Ralph Taylor—center, and Bob Komlanc—guard. Now ranked tenth in the state, Washington continued to show outstanding basketball-playing ability throughout the remainder of the season. Sectional time found the Continentals reaching the final game and losing by only two points. Nevertheless, the Washington team again proved its abilities by Clovis Stinson, Clark Dickerson, and John Dowdell receiving places on the sectionals' All-Tourney team as selected by the Indianapolis sportswriters and broadcasters.

TOGETHERNESS? Calvin Schaffer has a bit of trouble with an opponent on his back as he goes up for a rebound.

Opportunity made itself known to Washington's varsity basketball team this year, and the Mighty Continentals used it unsparingly. Washington entered the city tourney with a 10-1 record and with the ability and desire to sweep aside all city foes. With this very idea in mind, the Olivermen met Broad Ripple, the future 1963 regional basketball champion; a fizzled out rocket remained. Next the Washington five faced the always threatening Attucks' team, but the Tigers too fell. Tech was the final obstacle in the Continentals path, and Washington brilliantly cleared the way to take home its first city championship title since 1942. In the opening sectional game, Washington easily eliminated the Beech Grove Hornets. A much improved Sacred Heart was stopped by the continentals. In the sectional championship game with Southport, however, opportunity seemed to cease knocking as Washington closed its season with its fourth loss in twenty-three starts.

Following the same precedent of Washington's varsity hoopmen, Coach Richard Harmening's reserve basketball team racked up a terrific record of eighteen wins, two loses. The opening game against Howe resulted in one of the two defeats and the Continentals lost 44-32. The reserves then won seven straight games, the last three being defeats over Attucks, Sacred Heart, and Howe in the city reserve tournament. The B-team lost the next one to Tech, however, in the championship finals of the city. The freshman basketball team likewise beamed a wonderful record at the close of the year. The frosh compiled victories over Broad Ripple, Cathedral, Manual, Scecina, Ben Davis, Sacred Heart, Arlington, Shortridge, Howe, Tech, and Woodview for an 11-2 season. The freshmen lost to Speedway in the second season game and then was defeated by Howe in the opening game of the freshman city tourney.

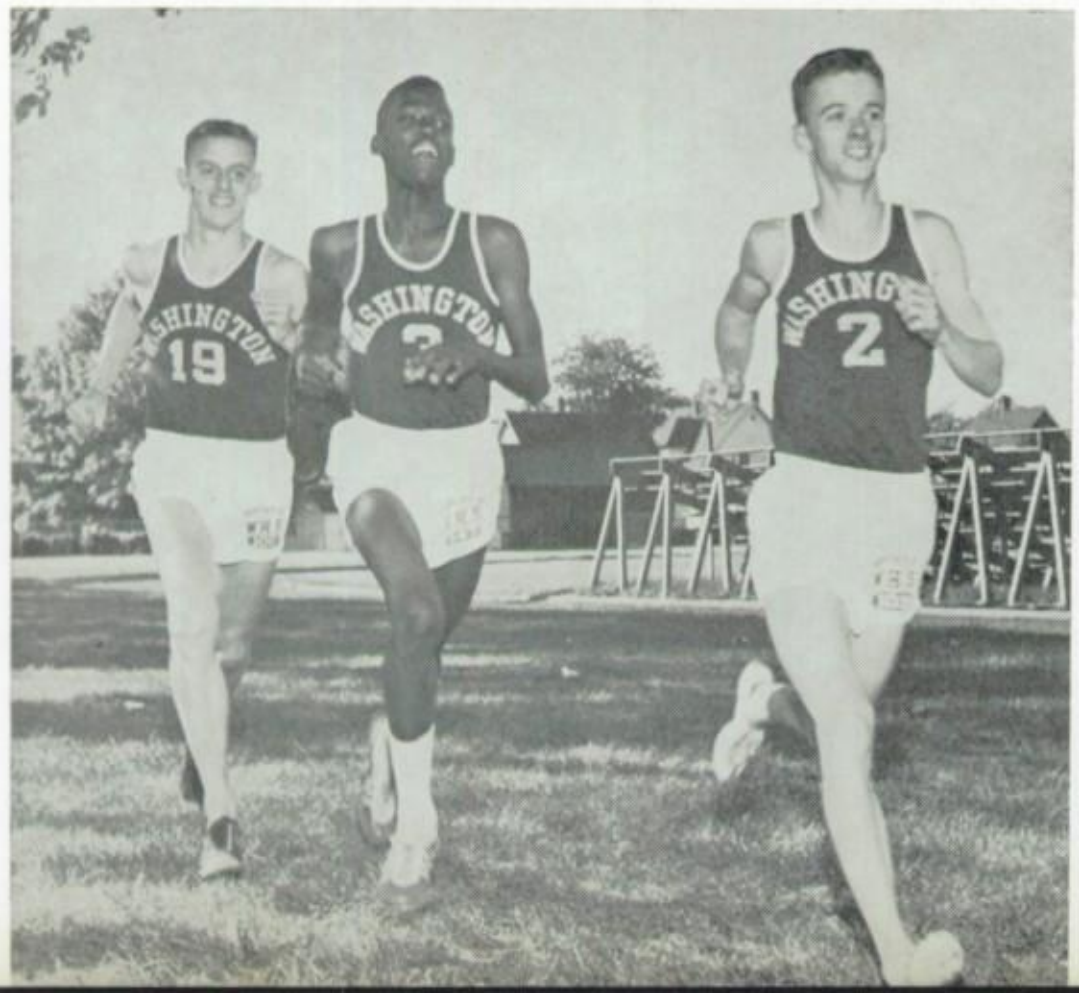
State champ Dennis Grider paces harriers

Collectively the cross country was good this year, and individually so was junior Dennis Grider. Both made impressive starts at the Ben Davis-Tech-Washington meet—the squad and Grider finished first with Grider setting a new course record. The Washington harriers continued to display their abilities by placing fourth in the Southport Invitational. Dennis Grider rated top honors in both meets and broke another record at Columbus. Second place went to Washington in the city meet, and a third place in the sectionals made the cross country team eligible to compete in the regionals. At the regionals, with the help of Grider's third record breaking run of the year, the Continentals grabbed a third place position and the opportunity to advance to the state finals. The state finals found the Washington cross country team finishing eighth—higher than any other city team in the state meet. In addition to this achievement, Dennis Grider captured the state championship title.

By winning a second place in the city meet, the reserve cross country team proved its equality to our varsity squad. The freshmen followed a similar pattern of accomplishments by receiving a third place in their city competition. All in all the teams had a good year.



HILL-AND-DALERS! Members of the cross country team Dennis Grider, Ronnie Porter, and Jim Johnson practice for their meets.

Wrestlers end season with 6-6-1 record

A slow start followed by a strong comeback brought Washington's varsity wrestling team a 6-6-1 season record. The varsity grapplers started the year successfully by defeating Tech 35-25, but the Continentals came out on the short end of the 25-20 score in the next meet with Shortridge. The third match against Scecina ended in our team's only tie, 22-all. Though the Washington matmen were over come in the next two meets by Cathedral and Southport, they improved for the city meet. Gary Opp's first place in the 138 pound division and Dennis Grider's second place in the 103 weight class helped Washington place eighth in the city. The Continentals then lost a match to Broad Ripple but charged back to defeat Manual and Howe. Washington lost the following match to Arlington and came out third in a four-way meet with Anderson, Muncie Central, and Ben Davis. In the last three meets, the Washington matmen answered the victory call by beating Wood, Decatur Central, and Sacred Heart. Coach John William's varsity grapplers then placed fourth in the sectional meet.

The reserve wrestlers under the coaching of Mr. Joe Tofil ended the season with a 10-12 record. In addition, Don Basore won the reserve city championship in the 120 pound class.

Not to be left out in sharing the victory honors earned by other sportsmen at Washington, the Continental track teams hustled during track season. Under the coaching of Mr. Harold Orman, the varsity tracksters began with three successive indoor meets—the first indoor meets in which Washington has ever participated. The Continentals handled the first one appropriately by beating Bloomington 56-46. The next two meets against Shortridge and Terre Haute Wiley proved differently, however, as the Continentals lost 64-45 and 53 9/10-55 1/10, respectively When once again back in its natural habitat, the out-of-doors, the varsity track team showed its winning form. Ben Davis was the first to fall 89-20, and Tech followed with a 67½-31½ lose. In the next threeway meets, Washington rolled over Southport and North Central, Arlington and Cathedral, Southport and Attucks, and Columbus and Howe. The North Central Relays then showed itself, and Washington did likewise. The Continental trackmen battled to a first place tie with Southport over eight other competing schols. During the season, senior Martin Lomen twice broke the school high jumping record, and senior Bob Eder shot-put his way on the sport's school honor roll. Reserve Coach Amos Slaton led his track team to a 3-2 record.

Tennis, the newest sport at Washington, is doing its best to gain top billing with the already established leaders in athletics. Twenty-three boys reported to Coach Herbert Dixon at the beginning of the season, and after weeks of hard training, fifteen remained to become the Continental racquetmen. The varsity tennis team launched into action this year by defeating Ben Davis 6-1 in the opening game. A four game losing streak then followed as the Continentals were downed by Tech 7-0, Howe 5½-1½, Manual 7-0, and North Central 7-0. In their single game played at the time the POST went to press, the reserve racquetmen won over North Central 4-3. The tennis team like other sports has a first string squad—this rating being conferred upon those boys winning the most games. The top five men on this year's team in the order of their standing are seniors Dick Gardner, John Whalin, Richard Parks, Terry Buck and sophomore Harold Ballard. Since the tennis team is only in its third year of existance as a Continental sport, there are currently no suitable courts at Washington on which the team may play. For this reason, all home games take place at Rhodius Park.

SQUEEZE PLAY! Dan Carnes and Marvin Winkler put the tag on Harvey Holmes as he attempts to bunt his way to first base in a practice session.

A baseball team composed of five experienced seniors, capable underclassmen, and a fine coach can turn out only one kind of record—winning. These characteristics explain the Washington baseball club's huge success this season. When the POST went to press, the varsity sluggers were undefeated in their first five outings. Columbus fell both times, 10-4 and 8-6, in the opening double-header. The mighty Continentals under the direction of Coach Frank Luzar then defeated Kokomo 6-5, Shelbyville 4-2 and Arlington 9-3.

The reserve baseball team coached by Mr. Frank Munshower does not seem to be having as good a year as the varsity squad. The Continental reserves lost the double-header to Columbus 5-1 and 10-9 in the season's opener and then Washington was defeated by Kokomo 7-2. In their fourth game, the Washington reserve sluggers beat Shelbyville by a 7-6 score.

reserves learn and perfect fundamentals

Eleven individuals comprise golf squad

Golf is an individual's game; consequently, good linkmen produce a good team. This law, good brings good, is clearly illustrated in Washington's golf team this year. Thirty-three prospective golfers ventured onto the course, and eleven remained to complete the full eighteen holes. Coach Dave Hine and his boys began thier season successfully by defeating Warren Central 7½-4½. Mike Shanahan was medalist, the low man, with a 42 score for nine holes. Howe and Madison Heights then handed Washington two loses—13½-4½ and 14-1 respectively. Skip Crawford was medalist for both games with an 80 and 78 score for eighteen holes. An 8½-3½ lose to North Central brought the Continentals to their feet, and Washington won the next three successive games over Tech, Wood, and Manual. Medalist honors went to Skip Crawford and Mike Shanahan tied for low man position. The city tourney and Arlington meets being rained out, Washington then played only one more game before the POST went to press. At that time, the Continentals defeated Southport 7½-4½, and Skip Crawford was medalist.

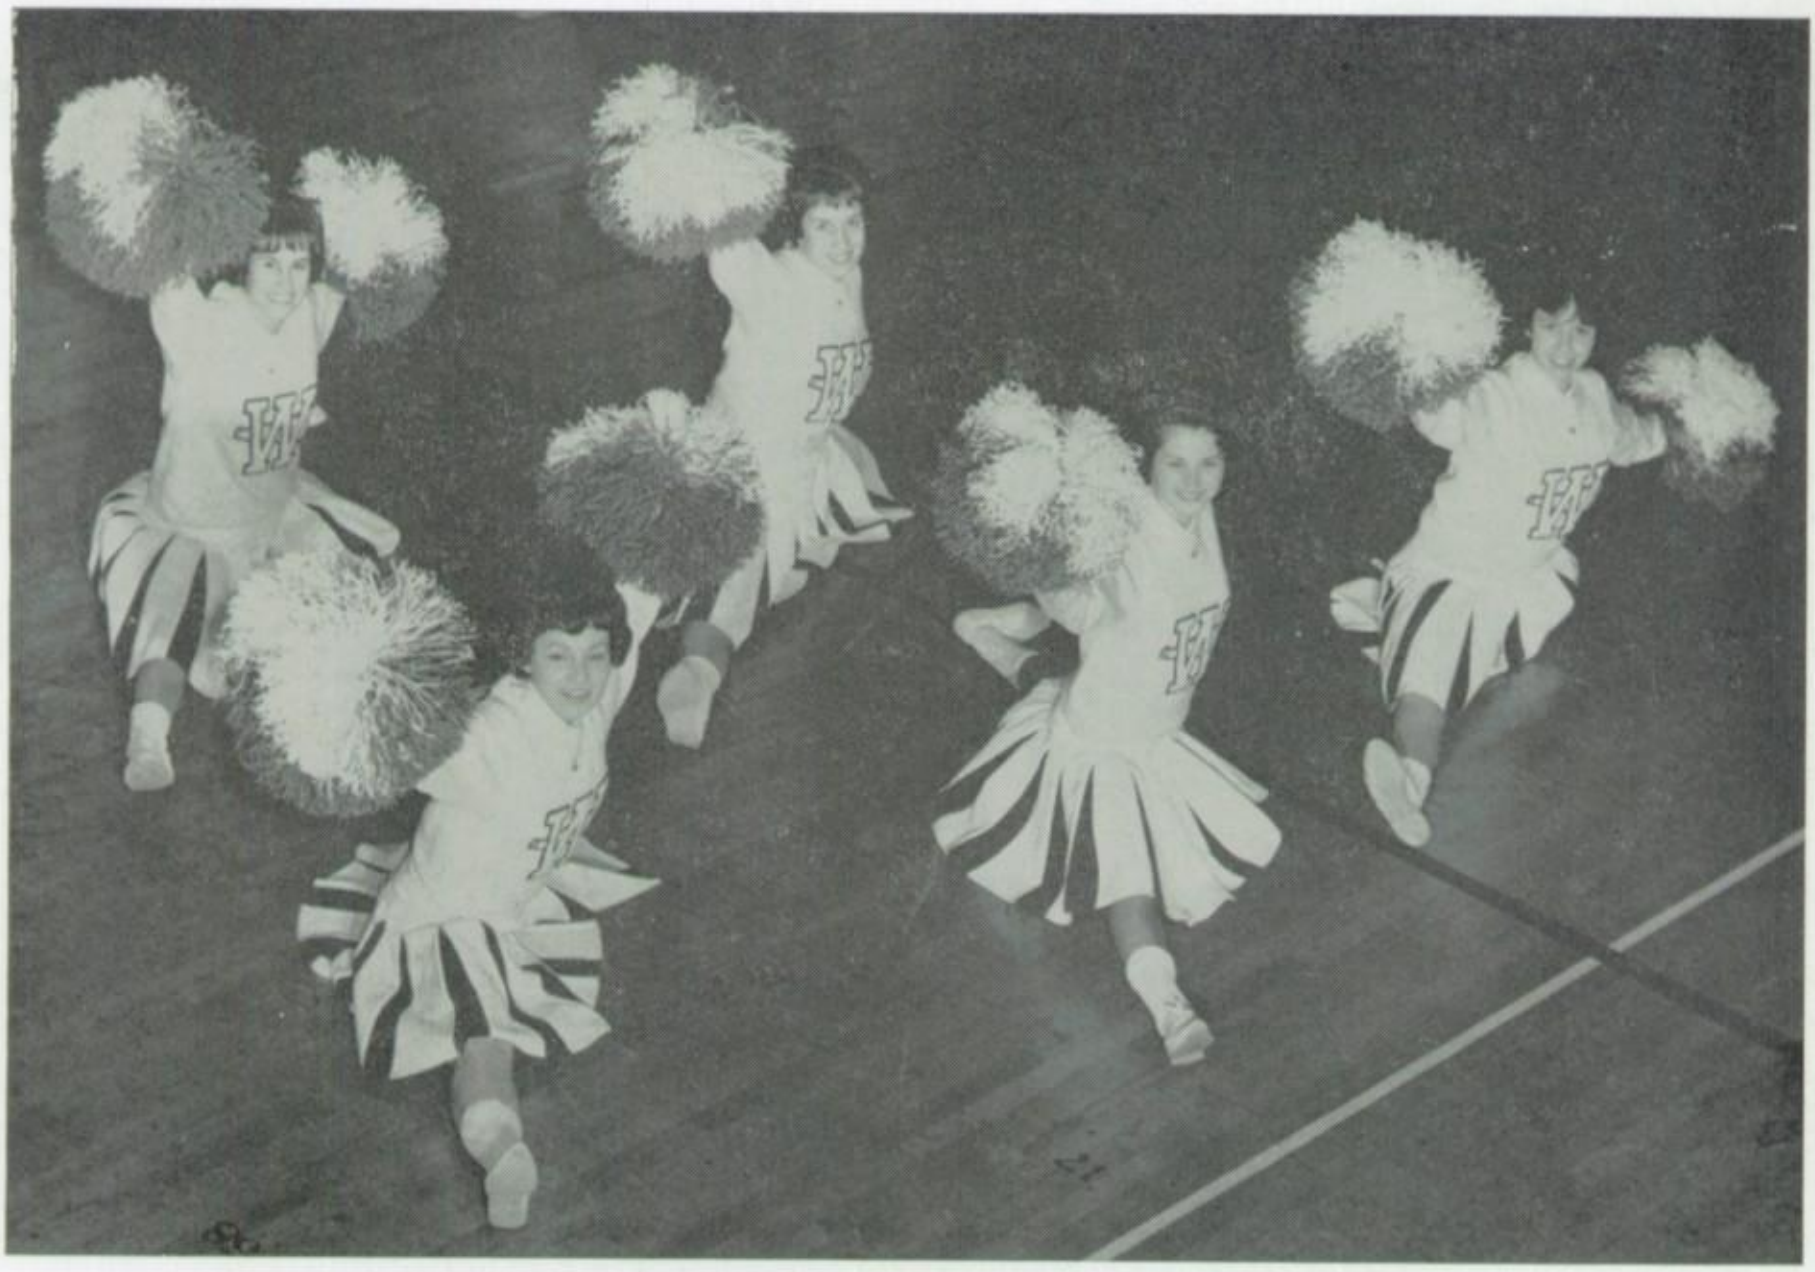
CGAA interests girls in physical education

Continental Girls' Athletic Association is created for those girls who are interested in participation in physical education. Many types of games are played: such as volleyball, basketball, softball, bowling, tennis, kickball, tumbling, and track. On a point basis, each girl competes for the highest place. Awards such as certificates, trophies, and letters are presented to the most outstanding girl athlete. Biweekly meetings are held to determine the type of activity in which the club will participate in the coming weeks. Each September, a new president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer are elected. Not all games played are contests. Games such as soccer, basketball, and volleyball are played for enjoyment. This club completes the curriculum of girls majoring in physical education. Each week draws interested girls of all high school ages to the Continental Athletic Association.

I WAS AN 80-POUND WEAKLING! Darleen Shenin, Linda White, and Patty Popcheff, members of the CG AA, apply their energies toward physical fitness.



WE WANT ACTION! Members of the varsity cheerleading squad are Karen Hessel, Sue Douglass, Nancy McFall, Vicki Wright, and Jane Horner.

The Continental cheerleaders were chosen by the Kiwanis Club as the best cheerleaders in the city. A panel of traveling judges observed all the cheerleading squads in the city during the football season. The final accounting showed George Washington's cheerleaders as the tops in the area. In acknowledgement of this award, each girl recieved a gold pennant and the school was given a trophy. The award was based on the squad's movements, cheers, enthusiasm, and support drawn from the crowd. The girls led their yells energetically so the newly formed cheerblock would respond loudly. This enthusiasm brought forth by the cheerleaders and the cheerblock sparked our hustling teams to many victories giving us a record to be proud of. The new cheerleading sponsor, Mrs. Nancy Conger, worked hard with the girls and helped them in numerous ways. Mrs. Conger presented the cheerleaders with their awards at the annual sports banquet honoring the athletic participants. Three of the girls who received the awards are seniors.

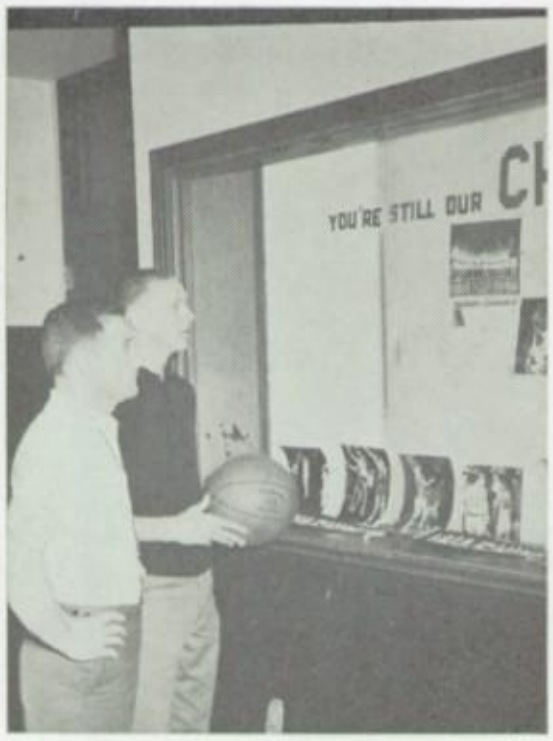
Lettermen and Cheerblock stimulate spirit

GOTTA' NEW YELL, GOES LIKE THIS.....! Cheerleader Karen Hessel leads the cheerblock.

The Lettermen's Club, sponsored by Mr. Ron Thomas, was busy this year furnishing the cheerblock with their purple and white capes. Along with their many duties they held the ropes at the basketball games, ushered, and performed other duties they found necessary throughout the sports season.

Boosting our team to many victories this season, the cheerblock added color and enthusiasm to school spirit. Once a week the cheerblock remained after school to practice yells, motions, and formations. The most active time of the cheerblock was during sectional time. With the winning season behind, the team and the cheerblock went to the sectional with more school spirit and enthusiasm. During the sectional the cheerblock demonstrated their new formations and yells. They wore their new capes and white gloves to add color to the cheerblock. This year the cheerblock was the largest ever.



Speaking of Washington

with the accent on

PERSONALITIES

Accenting the years at school and the friendships made, we've started on the pathway to everlasting companionships, understanding, and developing our sense of values.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE! This is home base for Mr. Cloyd J. Julian, principal, between sessions of his active day.

Administrators foster school improvement

PLANS UNDERWAY! Always willing to help, guide, and counsel with Continentals are Mr. William G. Mahan and Mr. Justin E. Marshall, vice-principals.

The principal and the two vice-principals head the school and comprise the "upper three." Working closely with them are the counselors, teachers, and the office personnel. The principal supervises and officiates on all school matters. Adjusting programs and answering any problems of immediacy are the tasks of the vice-principals. The counselors plan ahead. They help the pupil choose his curriculm, discuss college, and find opportunities for employment. Teachers are the medium through which knowledge is transferred directly. The teachers are the ones who are in contact with the pupils every minute of the day. The final link in our faculty chain is the office personnel. It is their duty to assist the principal and vice-principals, welcome guests, and enroll new pupils. Through the combined effort of the entire faculty, the school runs efficiently and each pupil can be proud of Washington.

NOW WHAT'S THE PROBLEM? Miss Leunice Horne, dean of girls, helps all of the girls with their problems.

Office staff promotes exactness, efficiency

BIG WHEELS AT WASHINGTON! The office staff consists of Mrs. Nellie La Mar, Mrs. Vi Sanders, Mrs. Evelyn Framer, Mrs. Wilma Crippen, Mrs. Grace Arvin, Mrs. Florina Hendricks, Miss Anna Mae Harrison, Mrs. Aileen Dickman, Miss Mary Mitchell, and Mrs. Connie Baldwin.

GUIDE TO SUCCESS! Mr. Audie Watkins, dean of boys, is always willing to offer his advice to Continentals.

Smith, Betty Pyett, Sheila Elem, Lela Oliver, Silvia Lomand, and Josephine Koch.

TEACHERS ON STAGE! Mrs. Ramsey, Miss Kirby, Mr. Hedges and Mr. Winzenread take advantage of the faculty show to display their acting abilities.

Time was. . .when the school marm was a sedate, tranquil personality who would never even consider being associated with the juvenile habits and peculiarities of pupils. But space-age. . .finds the Continental teacher "makin' the scene." Washington teachers find opportunities to indulge in "Gunsmirk," sports and elephant drives. "Gunsmirk," the faculty's theatrical endeavor, was presented at the 1963 Continental Capers. Beginning in the "Short Branch Saloon" and climaxing with the "educators' twist," the comic skit illustrated the faculty's versatility.

Donning the latest sport fashions, the athletic coaches defeated the intramural basketball champs. Inter-school faculty games left the Continental squad with only two losses to Arlington, both games ending with a "crushing" one point defeat.

Continental instructors assist at school functions, sponsoring clubs, athletic teams, and talent shows. Faculty members are also known as the hall "police" and fill the capacity of pupil "wardens." Nevertheless, Washington teachers deserve the prize for being the most appropriate people to fill the jobs.

Faculty finds time for varied activities

PROFESSIONALS IN THE MAKING? Members of the faculty basketball team are John Bradley, Robert Springer, John Williams, Frank Munshower, Alan Hamilton, Richard Harmening, Howard Leedy, Herschel Ross, David Muse, Jerry Oliver, and Gerald England. The faculty closed their season with a 7-2 record.

Class of 1963 initiates contest and talent

The Seniors of the Class of '63 have been sponsoring many activities which will help promote a better Senior Prom. The expedition was begun by a Senior Car Wash. The next event was an after school dance at which George and Martha Washington were chosen. The Senior Showcase with its star-studded cast of Seniors was a bit success. "June Graduates," the Senior Class play, finished out the list of money making projects of the year. The Senior Class Officers' election was a long and hard battle which ended in a victory with a split-party decision Baccalaureate service was in the boys gymnasium at Washington. This service shows the relationship between good education and religion. The school year ended with joyful, yet tearful graduation which was at the Butler University campus on Wednesday, June 5.

JUNE GRADUATES... Cast of the senior play, "June Graduates," i s Charlene Zeronik, Allan Derringer, Susan Marlowe, Walter King, Bill Russell, and William Carroll. Standing are Kay McCallister and Dick Johnson. Mr. David Kettler directed the production

Highlighting the school year activities is the annual Awards Day program. Awards Day was originated to give honor to the outstanding students of the year at Washington High School. Awards are presented at three convocations; one for the freshmen and sophomores; one for the juniors and seniors; and a third convocation for the entire student body. It is at this third convocation, which is especially to honor the outstanding seniors, that the department awards and scholarships are presented. The recipients of the scholastic awards at the first two convocations are selected by their teachers, with each teacher giving the award to the outstanding student in each class. The seniors earn their department awards by completing six full semesters in a particular subject.

Adding sparkle to the program while presenting the awards to the students is the Awards Day Queen and her court. The queen and her court are chosen from the top third of the senior class. From the upper third, the seniors then vote for the top twenty girls. Then from the top twenty, the juniors and seniors together select the seven girls, the one with the most votes being the queen, while the other girls make up her court.

Class of 1964 works diligently throughout

Only one year away from having the prestige of a senior, the juniors have many activities and events to busy their year. The Junior Revue is one of the highlights of the junior class. Much time and energy is exerted to make this one of the most successful productions of the season. After they have received their class rings the juniors gain a sense of officially being a junior. The election of Junior class officers adds excitement and rivalry to the air that seems contagious to the other classes too. The losing party then finds itself as the members of the executive committe. It is the executive committee that is the backbone in planning the Junior Prom. After the executive committee appoints its other committees, the work for the best Junior Prom ever begins. Mr. Robert Badgley, the junior sponsor, aids juniors in their projects throughout the year. Mr. Badgley helps the juniors to plan their programs for their senior year, and he also helps them to plan ahead if they are going to college so that they can take tests to help enter them in the college of their choice.

the year to spend one evening in Paris

Toward the end of the first semester in spring, Junior Class members begin their plans for the Junior Prom. Committees are set up and the gradual process of making arrangements for decorations, refreshments, and other equipment ready begins. Through democratic voting, the Junior Class chooses candidates for King and Queen. Well before prom night, five couples are chosen. From these five couples, one pair is selected to be crowned King and Queen of the Junior Prom of 1964, at the climax of the evening. The many committees work diligently to transform an ordinary gymnasium into a glamorous setting. The theme for the Junior Prom of 1963 was "Soiree Enchante," which is French meaning "An Enchanted Evening in Paris". The setting reflects Parisian influence and gives the impression of Paris and all its gaiety at night. Each year the members of the Junior Class anticipate the excitement of the Prom. The King and Queen are crowned, the girls buy formals, the boys drive the family car, and it is a night to be remembered by all who shared one enchanted "Evening in Paris" at Washington High School.

IT'S THE MUSIC MAN! Participants of the Junior Vaudeville are Sue Zigler, Gary Gunther, Jo Ann Slush, and Betty Mast

With the words "break a leg," ringing in their ears, the participants of the Junior Revue performed with the skill and talent almost comparable to professionals. The many hours spent after school in preparation for the show proved to be well-spent ones. Details, which at first seemed impossible to iron out, vanished when time came for the show to go on. Something different was added in the form of takes from five Broadway Musicals. They were artfully tied together to make an unusually refreshing change in the annual vaudeville. Those who saw the display of talent felt it well worth the admission charge. Though the Junior Revue was originally supposed to consist of Juniors exclusively, members of each class contributed much of their time to its success.

REHEARSAL BREAK! Singing one of the songs from the vaudeville are Walter King, Sharon Wigginton, Alan Derringer, and Linda Jeter.

Varied opportunities greet class of 1965

LET ME GO!! Examining a turtle in their sophomore biology class are Donna Lively, Ken Strong, and Gloria Apple.

As pupils reach the second plateau in their high school career, they find that many more opportunities exist. Being familiar with the school and the "Washington Way," the sophomores find that they have more time to devote to extra-curricular activities. For the first time the boys are eligible for varsity status on the athletic teams while the girls find their chances to be elected queen are much greater. The campaigning for the junior class officers occupies a great deal of the sophomore's time as each pupil considers and finally backs his candidate. Although not upperclassmen, this class begins to take an important position in the Washington world.

IS THIS WHAT YOU WANT TO TAKE? Counseler Herbert Dixon confers with Connie Hedges about her four-year recommended plan.

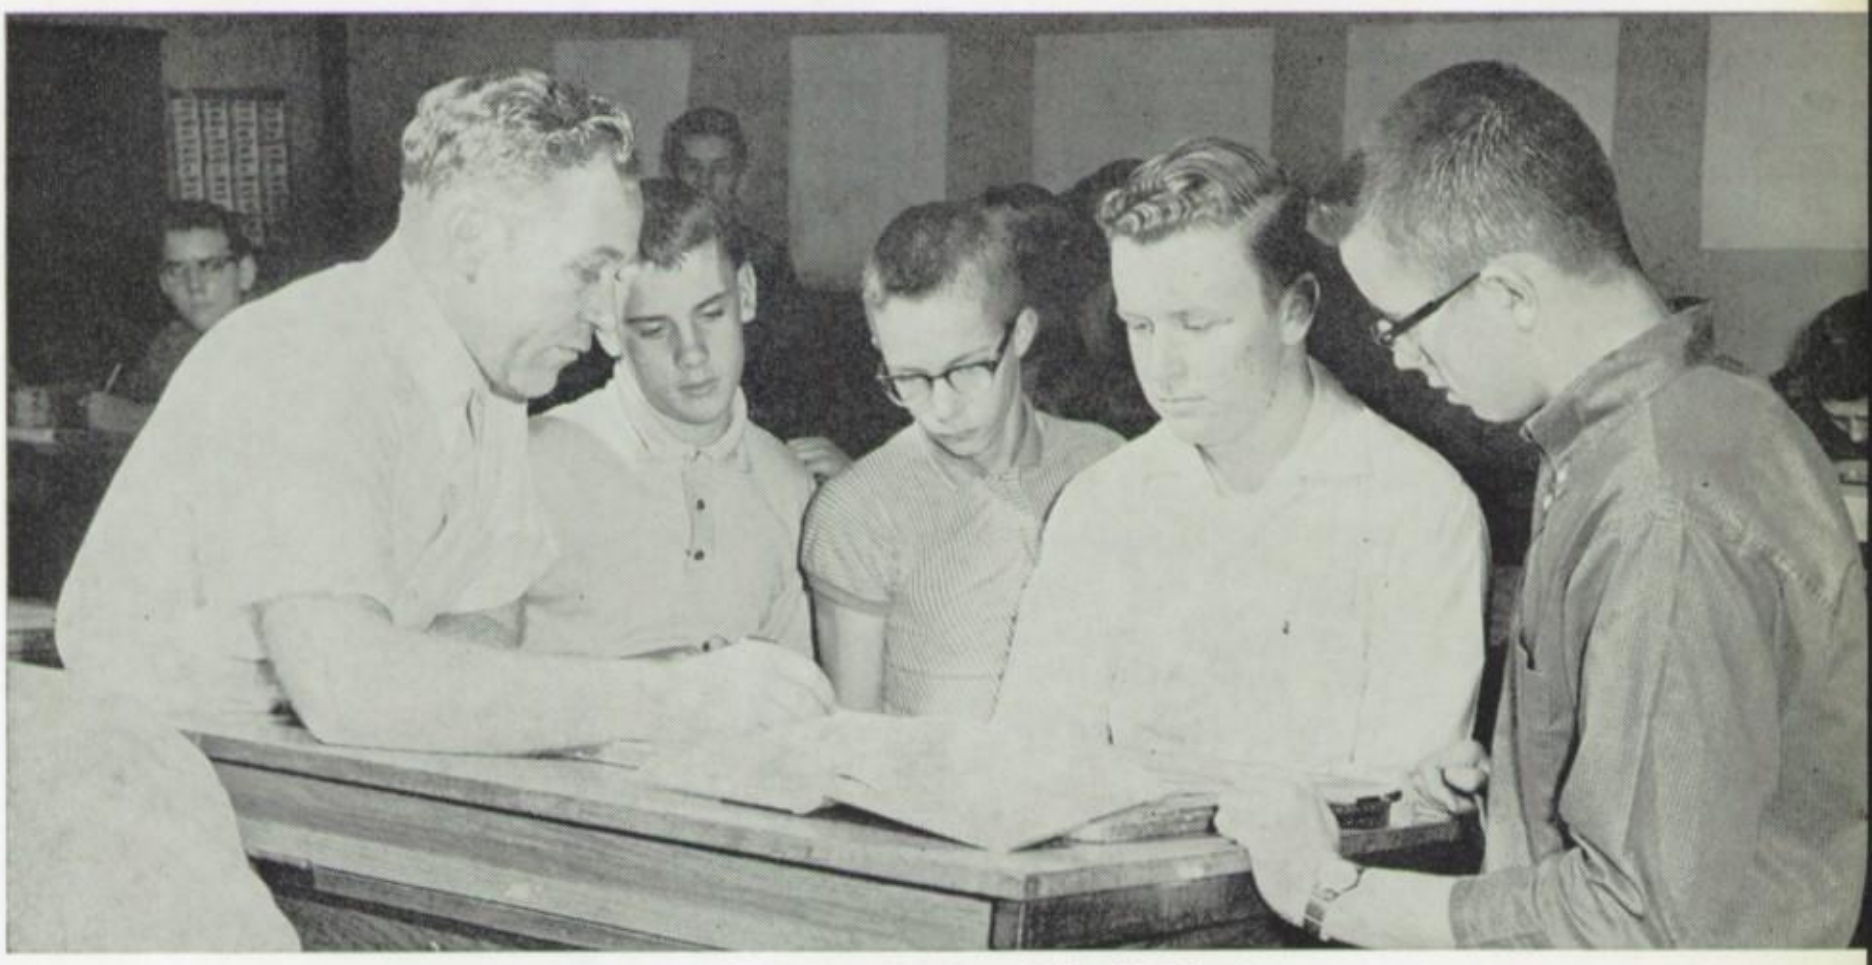
GO WEST YOUNG MAN! Larry Austin, a senior, acquaints freshman Jerry Smith with school procedures concerning the cafeteria.

There is no place to begin like the beginning. This idea is old, but it fits the case of freshmen. Behind them are the gradde school days, and ahead lie four years of learning and enjoyment. The fears and apprehensions felt by each frosh class are soon melted by the warm, friendly atmosphere generated by the pupils who have survived their freshman year. There are many opportunities available for beginning high school pupils to get into the swing of things in the form of school clubs, dances, and sports events. Though extracurricular activities play an important part in forming a well-rounded pupil, the proper emphasis should not be taken away from academic subjects. With the right guidance a freshman cannot fail, and he will easily adjust to high school.

Class of '66 finds a place in Continentaland



FRANK LLOYD WRIGHTS IN THE MAKING? Tom Marlow, Mike Wellington, Tim Humphrey, and Larry Carnes check a blueprint for accuracy.

Speaking of Washington

with the accent on

THE FUTURE

Confidence, though perhaps mingled with an amount of vocational uncertainty, reflects the entrance of Continental graduates into adult realms. Washington High School accents educational achievement with optimistic determination and instills pupils with the prerequisites of all success — desire, ambition, enthusiasm.
